Tells Cabinet He Will Ask France To Reopen Bitter Saar Dispute

BONN, Germany (UP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today bowed to a revolt in his own government against the Franco-German Saar agreement and told his cabinet he will ask France to reopen negotiations on the bitterly disputed issue.

BABY'S DEATH ENDS PLANS FOR ADOPTION

Police rushed a two-month-old baby boy to Jubilee Hospital early today but he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Arthur Sanders, 942 Balmoral, phoned at 8:12 a.m. to say that infant John Philip had been discovered apparently lifeless in his crib when Mrs. Sanders arose at 7:30 a.m.

Coroner Dr. A. C. Hart said he would hold an inquiry. The Sanders said the child had been sick for two days.

The child had been recently taken in by the Sanders and was to have been adopted. The child's mother was advised by police of its death.

Adenauer yielded to pressure from the moderate rightist Free Democrats (FDP) who share in his coalition government.

He promised to ask French Premier Pierre Mendes-France to send his cabinet chief, Jean-Marie Soutou, to Bonn to reopen Saar talks with German officials.

NATIONS WARNED
Mendes-France, during the Paris nine-power conference, warned that France would not ratify the German rearmament treaty unless it was accompanied by a settlement of the future of the Saar which lies between Germany and France.

The FDP announced to Adenauer that it would refuse to vote for ratification unless the Saar agreement is renegotiated to make it more acceptable to Germany.

Dr. Sheppard's Trial Takes Bizarre Turn

Defense Counsel Seeks to Deflate State's Coroner; Accused Weeps as Films Shown

By H. D. QUIGG

United Press Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND, O. (UP)—A celebrated criminal once was dubbed "Willie the Actor," but today Cleveland's celebrated criminal lawyer, William J. Corrigan, took the title away from him.

Corrigan is chief defense attorney for Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, the 30-year-old osteopath who is accused of beating his pregnant wife to death after a quarrel over his attentions to "other women."

The 67-year-old, white-haired attorney put on his act in starting to cross-examine a learned state witness. The man in the witness chair was Dr. Lester Adelson, deputy coroner and pathologist.

Adelson Thursday shocked the courtroom by projecting on a screen gruesome color slides of the hacked head of pretty Marilyn Sheppard. He had performed the customary autopsy on the body. His state's testimony was precise, clinical and highly-technical in a medical way.

Today, on cross-examination, Corrigan started in to deflate him as an expert. The lean, sharp-nosed defense attorney remained sitting at the counsel table and talked to the witness as if he were having a dinner conversation with an old friend.

"You consider yourself a well-trained pathologist?" Corrigan asked.

"I have had a little training," Adelson replied. Thursday he had reeled off the names of many schools he had attended, authorship of a book, and membership in the scholastic fraternity Phi Beta Kappa.

"You testified you were a member of Phi Beta Kappa?" (Corrigan pronounced it "Beta.")

"Yes."

"That has nothing to do with medicine, has it?"

Corrigan's tone was the same as if he were asking the doctor to have another helping of dessert.

"No," Dr. Adelson replied. Corrigan then brought out that there are several types of pathology. He asked if a "very thorough knowledge of anatomy" was not involved in pathology.

Corrigan then established that the witness was an expert in "forensic pathology," which he said had to do with persons connected with the field of law. Dr. Adelson testified he had collaborated in writing a book on "The Doctor in the Courtroom" which included advice on how to testify.

Corrigan was attempting to go into every move made by the coroner's office in the official examination of Mrs. Sheppard's body. Dr. Adelson, as the state's first witness yesterday, testified the body had 35 sep-

Victorian Hurt In Derailment Near Haney

Three Suffer Minor Injuries

HANEY, B.C. (BUP)—

Three persons were injured when a Canadian Pacific Railway transcontinental passenger train was derailed today near this Fraser Valley town 30 miles east of Vancouver.

The train, No. 7, bound for Vancouver from Montreal, hit a mudslide at Albion and two diesel units and three rear cars went off the tracks. The accident occurred at 7:43 a.m., and the train was travelling about 50 miles an hour.

The slide was apparently caused by heavy overnight rains.

THROWN TO FLOOR

The injured were identified as Mrs. A. C. March, 63, Ottawa; Mrs. H. E. Miller, Calgary, and Arthur Yates (110 King George Terrace), Victoria.

Mrs. March was thrown to the floor, and suffered slight spinal and head injuries. Mrs. Miller and Yates were in the observation car and were thrown to the floor, with Yates suffering a suspected collarbone injury.

One of the three required hospital attention. They were treated on the spot by Dr. Wallace of Kamloops who was himself a passenger on the train.

MANGLED IN THE WORKS

Time Runs Out For Clock-Winder

LONDON (UP)—Time ran out today for Tommy Manners, veteran winder of 800 clocks in London's law courts.

One of his clocks killed him. Manners, a 52-year-old civil servant, was fatally mangled when his clothing became caught in the huge old Law Courts clock, dragging him to his death 120 feet above London's Fleet Street.

The clock-winder was making his once-weekly inspection of the clock when the accident occurred.

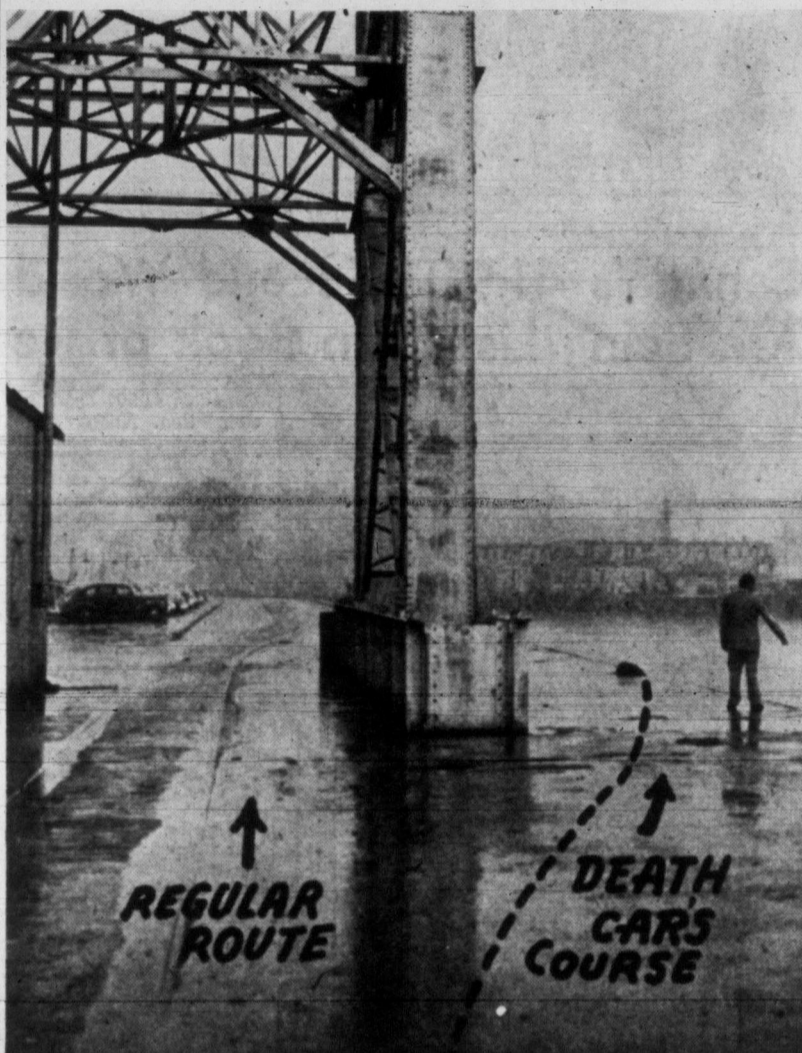

Bustling traffic on the street below and the booming clock-quarter-hourly chiming of the clock apparently drowned out his cries for help.

Two mechanics who arrived on the scene by coincidence found Manners dying in the powerful, relentlessly-moving clock works.

Ever since 1937, Manners had

Bad Visibility Believed Cause Dockyard Deaths

Where Car Plunged in Sea

Three Men Killed In Car Plunge In Driving Rain

Poor visibility in heavy rain, hampering a driver's effort to skirt along the dock edge, is believed responsible for an accident in which three government dockyard workers plunged to their deaths in Esquimalt Harbor late Thursday afternoon.

The three who died when a car carrying them home from work dived into 40 feet of water were:

Alfred Wilkins, 39, 67 Boyd, driver of the car.

Roy Joseph Gibson, 28, Hillside Auto Court.

Richard A. Bowles, 17, 236 Superior Street.

Inquest into the tragedy has been set for 10 a.m. Saturday at Sands Mortuary.

Although there were no eye-witnesses to the accident an inspection of the scene indicated the driver had attempted to steer his car in a narrow space between the edge of the crane and the dockside.

The space was big enough to take a car under normal conditions, but it was raining heavily at the time. It is believed the driver misjudged the edge and the car toppled over into the water.

The accident occurred shortly after quitting time, 4:30 p.m., when hundreds of civilian workers, employed by Dockyard and Yarrow's Ltd., on the re-fit of HMCS Ontario in drydock, began to leave for home.

The car which carried the three to their deaths was parked on the seaward side of a 100-ton stationary crane, near the end of the long jetty which extends out into Esquimalt harbor from the graving dock.

Cars parked in the area usually drive inside the outer "leg" of the crane, with the leg to the right of the car.

But it is believed the driver of the death car chose to take the lane outside the crane's leg, possibly to "jockey" for a better position in the long line of homeward-bound cars.

Car Made 'Grinding Crash'

Other workers in nearby cars heard a grinding crash as the car plunged off the side of the jetty. It flipped over and hit the water, about 12 feet below, roof first. As it sank, it turned over on its right side, and settled in about 40 feet of water.

Evidence indicates the three occupants were thrown heavily against the roof of the car and stunned when it hit the water. They apparently made no attempt to open the car doors and escape. The windshield apparently was broken in the plunge which would mean the car filled with water quickly.

L/S James Balmforth, HMCS Naden, frogman on duty at the diving school, rushed to the scene and dove for the bodies. He brought all three out. He said there was no sign that the men had tried to escape from the car.

The car came to rest on the bottom directly beneath the 100-ton crane. L/S Balmforth entered the water down a permanent steel ladder. He made four dives; one for each of the bodies and one to attach a hook from the crane to the rear bumper of the car, which was then pulled from the water.

There were no marks on the left-hand side of the car, and the base of the crane was also unmarked, indicating the car did not strike the crane before going over the side.

No actual eyewitnesses of the accident have been located.

Alarm given by those who heard the crash was answered by HMCS Naden and HMC Dockyard fire departments, a dockyard ambulance, Esquimalt city police, and personnel from Dockyard and HMCS Ontario, as well as the navy frogman.

The fire department used inhalators in an attempt to breathe life into the bodies, but all three were pronounced dead on arrival at HMCS Naden hospital.

Alfred Wilkins, owner and driver of the car, lived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Homestead. He is a native of Amherst, N.S., and had lived here for about eight years.

Youngest of the victims, Richard Bowles, 17, was a former student at South Park School. He was the youngest of four sons of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bowles, a member of the Canadian Scottish Reserve.

Roy Gibson was the father of four children. His wife, from whom he is said to have been separated, is believed to be in the United States with the children.

All three had been employed by dockyard for only a short period, ranging from seven days to two weeks.

Canada Backs A-Peace Plan

Martin Tells UN Nation Ready To Share Knowledge With Others

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Canada today offered to share its atomic energy information on the structure and operation of research reactors and provide other countries with its knowledge of finding, mining and milling uranium.

Paul Martin, Canadian minister of national health and welfare, told the United Nations main political committee that his government staunchly supports the "atoms-for-peace" plan proposed by President Eisenhower last December and elaborated today by U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr.

He said that although Canada could offer nothing that would match extensive "share-the-know-how" programs put forward by the U.S. and Britain, it believed the first requirement for the program was to acquaint world scientists with "the basic technology" of atomic science.

"My government," he said, "is prepared to broaden its existing program of exchanging reports on atomic energy with foreign scientific research institutes and is now in a position to furnish considerable additional information on the structure and operation of research reactors. We are also prepared to provide information on the techniques of exploring for radioactive ores and on their mining and milling operations."

SEMENICK SILENT

Shooting Suspects May Go Free

VANCOUVER (CP)—City prosecutor Stewart McMorran hinted today that police will release two men held for questioning in the underworld shooting of former convict William Semenick in Stanley Park.

The surprise development came as Semenick, 50, was remanded until Tuesday on a charge of attempting to obstruct justice by withholding information from police.

Lawyer Angelo Branca threatened to obtain the threatened to obtain freedom for the suspects unless his client was either charged or released.

His client, the first suspect picked up Wednesday after the shooting, had been held a total of 58 hours at noon today without being charged with a specific offense.

Semenick, recovering from a bullet wound in the groin, was moved secretly by police Thursday to second "hiding place" in the hospital.

Mrs. Semenick said her husband was "afraid" but told her nothing of the affair. (See story, page 12.)

You Think It's Wet? Try Pachena Point

Victorians splashed about in half an inch of rain Thursday but in Vancouver the situation was far worse.

The mainland city suffered a downpour which measured one and three-quarter inches. Hundreds of basements were flooded and in some low-lying areas traffic was snarled.

Several broken water mains and backed-up sewers which resulted, required city workmen to be called out for emergency duty.

The Vancouver weather office said the rainfall broke the city's November record of 1.65 inches set in 1948.

Victoria's .55-inch fall was nowhere near a record. Just last month, on Oct. 10, there was a similar fall which amounted to .58 inch.

Wettest place on the coast Thursday night was Pachena Point, on Vancouver Island's West Coast. The government lighthouse and wireless station there reported a new 24-hour record rainfall of 5.27 inches.

Fashion Column Starts Saturday

Feminine Victoria has already set the seal of approval on an announcement made in this newspaper Thursday, that Nona Damaske, one of the city's leading mannequins, will become fashion adviser for Victoria Times readers. Already questions have been sent in on different phases of style and beauty for Nona to answer. One leading Victoria woman, in expressing her approval says: "It is something that will appeal to everyone. So many of us need to be encouraged to look our best. I'm sure Nona will do just that!"

U.S. Ready To Make Start On A-Pool Plan

Americans Prepared to Make Facilities Available at Once

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told the United Nations today the United States is ready to start talks with other countries on bilateral agreements to furnish atomic materials for research reactors overseas as part of a program to share atomic knowledge for peace.

The American announced to the General Assembly's 60-nation political committee that this would be a gigantic forward step for 1955 in President Eisenhower's plans for an international pool of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

Outlining a program of action for the next year, even before a proposed international agency is created to oversee the atom-for-peace program, Lodge said the United States is ready to train persons to operate nuclear reactors, offer courses in nuclear safety, and to invite 150 foreign cancer experts to visit American cancer research facilities and swap views with U.S. doctors.

OFFERS ATOM DATA

Lodge also announced the United States is ready to give to the principal technical libraries of co-operating nations 10 libraries of data on nuclear energy plus sets of cards abstracting 50,000 scientific and technical books and reports published in all countries.

There was no word from Moscow whether the Russians had changed their minds and decided to go along with the Eisenhower proposals. With negotiations still under way between Washington and Moscow, Lodge made clear that the door is still open to the Russians to join the program.

He said the United States has had talks with Britain, France, Canada, Australia, Belgium, South Africa and Portugal on the project. The United States has said it will go ahead with the program whether the Russians join or not.

WANTS CONFERENCE

Lodge said the United States and other countries will sponsor a resolution calling on the UN to convene an international scientific conference next year to discuss many aspects of the atomic pool plan.

The international agency could be set up, Lodge said, on a basis similar to the specialized agencies of the UN. These agencies are related to the UN in common purposes but operate under their own budgets and constitution.

150 Invitations Out for 5th RCA Nov. 11 Luncheon

About 150 special invitations have gone out to officers of all three services on the B.C. coast and to high government officials to attend the 30th annual Remembrance Day luncheon at the 5th B.C. Coast Regt. (RCA) officers' mess, Nov. 11.

The luncheon will follow a Remembrance Day parade to the Cenotaph, and is sponsored by the 5th B.C. Coast Regt., 75th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regt., and 8th Anti-Aircraft Operations Centre.

Among those invited are: Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace, Premier W. A. C. Bennett, Mayor C. L. Harrison, Maj.-Gen. C. Vokey, commanding officer, Western Command; Vice-Admiral J. C. Hibbard, Flag Officer, Pacific Coast; Stuart Keate, publisher, the Victoria Times.

Canada's 41,901 Second World War Dead Are Being Listed in Book of Remembrance

BOOK OF REMEMBRANCE—A second Book of Remembrance, listing Canada's dead in the Second World War is being put together in Ottawa by a picked group of artists. The book contains some 600 pages and is expected to be completed in about 1½ years. The first Book of Remembrance, listing the dead in the First World War, rests in the Memorial Chamber of the Parliament buildings. (CP photo).

OTTAWA (CP)—A book of remembrance listing Canada's 41,901 dead in the Second World War is near completion. Nobody seems to know where it should go.

The 66,451 dead in the First World War is recalled in the Memorial Chamber of the Parliament Buildings' Peace Tower. There, on Aug. 3, 1927, the Duke of Windsor, then Prince of Wales, "set apart the altar of this chamber to receive, and hold forever the Book of Remembrance that the glory of those whose names are written herein may live for all generations."

REQUEST FOR STUDY
So far, there are no plans for a second memorial chamber to enshrine the book now in production. There is only a request to the cabinet for appointment of a committee to study the matter.

However, a number of informal suggestions about a suitable repository have been filed for reference. Some government officials are reported inclined to disregard suggestions that the book be placed in the new veterans' memorial building, which will house soon the veterans' affairs department, or in a war memorial planned for Gatineau Park, north of Ottawa.

They prefer a site closer to the present chamber at the foot of the Peace Tower in parliament's centre block. One view here is that the new book would be out of place alongside the first one. All the sculpture in the chamber is related to Canadian achievements in the First World War.

It is doubtful that space for a second chamber could be found higher in the 293-foot tower. The carillon's 53 bells take up most of the space. There is a suggestion that a chamber could be built just off the circular gallery, which runs above and around the centre block.

Canada-U.K. Exchange Of TV Under Study

LONDON (CP)—Canada and Britain may some day exchange television programs through a trans-Atlantic cable.

Sir Gordon Radley, engineer-in-chief of the general post office, said Thursday night that a submarine cable between Britain and North America is "a long-range goal worthy of serious study."

"When a child is born within a marriage," said Judge Elmer N. Holmgren, "there is legal presumption that both marriage partners are his parents."

The ruling was handed down in the case of Mrs. Arline Olson, 30, in one of two current Chicago lawsuits in which mothers contend their children were conceived by artificial insemination.

Mrs. Olson had asked the court to deny her divorced husband, Raymond, 32, the right to visit her three-year-old son, Ronald. She alleged that the child was born by artificial insemination and that Olson had no right to the child.

In a similar case in which a Chicago woman contends her five-year-old child is a product of artificial insemination, her husband has filed suit asking that such method of conception should be declared adultery.

ATTEMPTS TO RECOVER BOY'S BODY FAILURE

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—Navy divers were reported Thursday to have failed in attempts to uncover further clues in the slaying of a four-year-old Indian boy, Ernest Blaney.

RCMP said the Crown will likely seek another remand when the boy's uncle, Thomas Blaney, appears in court Saturday on a charge of murdering the boy.

Police said the child's body is believed to have been dropped into the sea after he was shot.

The murder charge was laid after part of the boy's skull was discovered.

Mulligan Promises Drive On Illegal Lotteries

VANCOUVER (CP)—Chief Constable Walter Mulligan, in a command performance before the Vancouver police commission, promised a vigorous drive on lotteries.

The announcement came from Mayor Fred Hume on Thursday, and was the first word to come from a secret report submitted by the chief Monday at the request of the commission.

The report admitted "it is obvious there has been some laxity on the part of the police department" in enforcing anti-lottery laws.

Mayor Hume, as chairman, said the police commission accepted the report and those of his top three officers in that department concerned.

Chief Mulligan, in an interview, then said Thursday that although there was obvious laxity, there would be no action taken against Superintendent Jack Horton or Detective Sergeant Ian MacGregor.

Supt. Horton is head of the criminal investigation bureau and Sgt. MacGregor is the youthful head of the gambling detail.

The investigation arose from a series of newspaper articles on the sale of lottery tickets in Vancouver.

SAANICH BOOMS, 597 NEW HOMES

10-Month Building Exceeds 1953 Total, Runs Far Ahead of Other Greater Victoria Areas

Saanich is far ahead of Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt in home construction this year, it is revealed in the building reports of the four municipalities of Greater Victoria.

The Saanich home construction program is the biggest in the history of the municipality and is linked with $10,000,000 land speculation boom.

BEATS 1953 TOTAL
Saanich issued 597 permits for private dwellings in 10 months this year and has surpassed last year's building totals, J. A. Taylor, building inspector reported. Last year's total for 12 months was 580.

The dwellings are valued at $3,742,440.

Building permit totals in other municipalities for the year ending October were: Victoria 118, at $953,132; Oak Bay 121, at $1,519,000 and Esquimalt 59 permits at $362,500.

These figures do not include permits issued for other types of dwellings, such as commercial buildings.

Victoria's grand total for all types of buildings is $6,298,804 for the year to date, according to building inspector J. W. Osterink. October building figures reached $506,222.

During the past month permits were taken out for two apartments, six dwellings, one duplex and a service station, he said. A $23,000 apartment is being erected by E. J. Hunter on Cook Street and R. A. Phillips is putting up a $20,000 block on Oak Bay Avenue.

IKE TO CONSULT DEMOS ON U.S. FOREIGN POLICY

WASHINGTON (UP) — The administration will make more use of Democrats in developing and executing U.S. foreign policy now that they have won control of Congress, informed sources reported today.

They said President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will seek particularly the advice of Democratic congressional leaders on foreign policy sections of the administration's 1955 legislative program.

Mr. Eisenhower also is expected to appoint at least one and may be more Democrats to special jobs in the state department, international organizations, or overseas posts.

THE VICTIM: In Los Angeles University of Southern California scientists studied with intense scrutiny today a fiddle tie belonging to downcast engineering student James Sharpless.

The distressed student said that when he left home for school yesterday his tie was a bright coral color. By the time he reached class it had turned an ugly purple.

A diagnosis was conducted by Dr. Joseph Smatko, head of the chemistry department, who informed saddened Sharpless that his tie had been a victim of smog.

EXAMPLE: In Manila, the chief of Quezon City Police criticized his officers today for using big words in their reports. He said "such pernicious practice, instead of expediting matters . . . (made the reports) difficult to comprehend."

FAMILY AFFAIR: In Atlanta a family of four, dubbed the "Battling Sullivans" by police was under sentence today to attend church and Sunday school regularly for two years. Charles Sullivan Sr., his wife and their two husky sons also were placed under a nightly 9 p.m. curfew for two years under terms of probation jail sentences for a brawl at their home.

They all were charged with attacking police who attempted to quell a disturbance.

BARGAIN: In Toronto John Drazic, who knows how to drive a hard bargain, pulled a $2,000 cheque out of an old boot.

Drazic tried on a pair of felt and rubber boots twice in a second-hand store. The first time they cost $8, the second time $6. He went back a third time, bought them for $2.50, then discovered the cheque concealed in a slit in the sole.

One drawback to his bargain, he said today, is that the cheque was made out by one Nam Sing four years ago for $2,000 in Hong Kong currency, payable to the Netherlands Trading Society.

BRITISH PAPERS HAIL JOE'S LOSS OF POWER

LONDON (Reuters) — British newspapers today hailed the imminent removal of Sen. Joseph McCarthy from chairmanship of the Senate permanent investigations committee as the most important result of the United States elections.

World's Fastest Seaplane Falls Apart in Flight

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Convair Sea-Dart, the world's fastest seaplane, broke apart, burst into flames and plunged into San Diego harbor Thursday.

Its pilot, Charles Richbourg, rode the fore part of the delta wing, needle-nosed jet fighter to his death, before the shocked eyes of hundreds of spectators, among them his wife.

The United States Navy today had divers exploring the bottom of the bay, some 40 feet deep, for bits of wreckage which might help explain the accident. Richbourg had taken the Sea-Dart off from the bay on a regular test flight which a group of more than 100 visiting aviation writers had been invited to watch. The navy was especially proud of its ownership of the world's first jet-powered seaplane fighter because of the way in which it combined the speed of land-based jets with the versatility of water-based aircraft.

The plane had a rated capability of more than 700 miles an hour.

On the fatal run, the batlike craft wobbled sharply, turning first its flat base and its equally flat upper side toward the spectators.

Then, incredibly, the machine started coming apart. There was a bright puff of flame, and the craft porpoised upward. "Look out, it's going to explode!" someone shouted.

The plane was only about 300 feet above the water and possibly that far at sea. As the fuselage broke up, fuel lines parted, pouring a petroleum mixture into the jet stream. There was a brilliant sheet of fire and black debris showered from it.

Car Jumps Curb As Police Dodge Impaired Driver

A police car had to jump a curb and drive along a sidewalk to avoid being struck by a car driven by soldier Ernie Prosser of Work Point Barracks Thursday night.

He was one of two drivers fined today in police court for impaired driving.

Prosser was fined $250 on that charge and an additional $35 for failing to have a license, or else serve a total of 17 days in jail. Edward Edgar Miller, 1732 Oak Bay Avenue, who crashed into the rear of a car stopped for a red light at Admirals and Esquimalt Road, also paid $250 and faces a suspension of his license.

Canadian Novelist Of 'Mrs. Mike' Fame Leaves $15,577

CALGARY (CP) — Will of Mrs. Catherine Mary Knox, probated here Thursday, showed the Canadian novelist left a net estate of $15,577.

A resident of Vancouver for many years, Mrs. Knox died here Aug. 8. She was born in Ireland and had also lived in Boston.

Although she wrote several books herself, Mrs. Knox became famous as Catherine Mary Flanagan in the book "Mrs. Mike," the story of a mountie's wife in the north which was also made into a movie and a Broadway play.

Mrs. Knox was married to Sgt. Mike Flanagan of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police and her story was written by Benedict and Nancy Freedman.

Her widower, John Knox, and other relatives were named beneficiaries in the will.

Diplomat Davies Recalled to U.S. For Security Check

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Paton Davies, a controversial career diplomat for a decade, has been called home to be on hand for State Secretary Dulles' decision on whether he is a security risk.

Davies, 46, was recalled from his post as counselor at the United States embassy in Lima, Peru. Technically, state department officials called it "routine orders for reassignment."

However, there would be no reassignment if Davies should decide against him. Should the

Good Decision, Mr. Premier

PREMIER BENNETT IS TO BE congratulated on his decision to build the Marpole bridge without delay. He is very properly bringing the toll bridge authority into use to finance the undertaking. Thereby he assures travelers a vitally-needed link between Vancouver, Lulu Island and Sea Island under terms which need not impose a heavy financial burden on the province.

Should the city of Vancouver and the Federal Government agree to pay acceptable shares toward the cost of the project, the Premier says the province will also meet its proportion and tolls will be lifted. This is a sensible and appropriate way in which to deal with an undertaking too long delayed by failure of the three governments to reach accord on payments.

Mr. Bennett is quite right in taking the position that the Provincial Government itself should not be saddled with the entire costs. The bridge will be of particular value to the city of Vancouver and the airport. The need for it has been proved on countless occasions by the traffic tie-ups unavoidable under present conditions. The existing structure is quite inadequate to handle efficiently the flow of cars now using it. But Vancouver will not be the only part of the province to benefit.

Air travelers from Victoria to the mainland know from unhappy experience how much of their time is wasted by the present bottleneck and British Columbians in general should appreciate the advantages faster transit into the province's largest city will bring them. They will profit as commerce moving into Vancouver is handled more quickly and with consequent saving.

The inescapable interest of the Federal Government should be apparent. For defense reasons, Ottawa should be deeply concerned in the provision of adequate access to R.C.A.F. installations on Sea Island. Moreover, since the costs of the bridge will be higher to permit passage of ships up navigable waters, federal assistance is justified.

These arguments have been presented before. They are still strong. Presumably they will be factors in final decisions on cost sharing.

In the meantime, Premier Bennett appears to have hurdled the technicalities of finance to assure an early start on the bridge. The toll bridge authority provides the means by which he has been able to take this course. The Government's action should win support across party lines.

Our Foot on the Path

PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL'S reference in the Commons this week to the cumulative lethal effects of radioactive dust resulting from hydrogen bomb explosions will be widely noted. It bears out substantially the opinions recently expressed on this page by the Alsop brothers, Washington columnists who have kept in close touch with all phases of the atomic and hydrogen bomb.

They, like Sir Winston, have warned that the existence of humanity may be endangered by the explosion of too many hydrogen bombs. With each explosion radioactive material is released into the atmosphere. Some of it loses its lethal quality within a few hours; some may take years to become harmless. The threat is that with successive explosions—whether experimental or in war—the air, the soil and the sea will eventually become charged with substances emitting harmful rays.

Some of these may be immediately lethal in themselves, producing the now familiar effects of radiation sickness. Others may have an even more sinister effect through altering animal chromosomes and injuring the very life-stuff of human inheritance.

Early descriptions of atomic and hydrogen weapons as presenting a Pandora's box to humanity were not exaggerated. Man now has it within his power to remove himself from the face of the earth, going the way of the dinosaurs and other creatures which in their time ruled the globe and then vanished. It will be an ironic outcome if the dinosaurs, with the smallest brains, and man, with the largest, tread the same path to extinction.

Canada and the New Book Look

CURRENTLY, BECAUSE IT IS Canadian Book Week, Canadians are being urged to read Canadian writers.

Nine days hence people on the continent will be invited to read more books because it is Book Week sponsored by U.S. interests. On November 15, the emphasis will be on juvenile reading as library associations of this country sponsor Young Canada Book Week and those of the United States endorse a similar event in that nation.

How the public reacts to these promptings is a matter for conjecture. Presumably those people whose hobby is reading may be diverted to particular authors. Those who do not care for the printed page conceivably will continue to concentrate on television and other entertainment media.

Whatever the individual taste, the public is now offered more books, good and bad, than ever before in history.

It is proper that Canadian authors should draw attention to the works they are producing. People of this nation should be kept informed on the progress of professional writers and the improving standards they are achieving.

But this week, or any other week,

Industry, B.C. and Cheap Power

AMERICAN VOTERS DECIDED the issues in this week's United States elections, but British Columbia was projected into at least one of the important contests.

The provincial impingement should be a cause for serious thought by all people of B.C.

In Oregon, where State Senator Richard L. Neuberger has taken the seat of Republican U.S. Senator Guy Cordon, one of the issues centred on the private-versus-public power dispute. Senator Neuberger attacked Senator Cordon's support of the Eisenhower administration's "partnership" power program at a time, as New Republic magazine phrased it, "when industry is moving out of Oregon into cheap-power Washington and British Columbia."

The reference to B.C. is important as an indication by the Pacific Northwest of the "cheap-power" attraction of this province and its neighboring state. It points up the rivalry between the two in drawing investment capital to their respective territories.

In that way it underscores the importance of any projects which would increase the magnetism of Washington State at the expense of British Columbia and emphasizes current argument on the creation of water storage basins in B.C. for the chief benefit of our southern neighbor.

A Visitor We Can Spare

ROY BERGO, THE 50-YEAR-OLD Edmonds baby's-bathbub navigator is not coming to Victoria. We can restrain our tears.

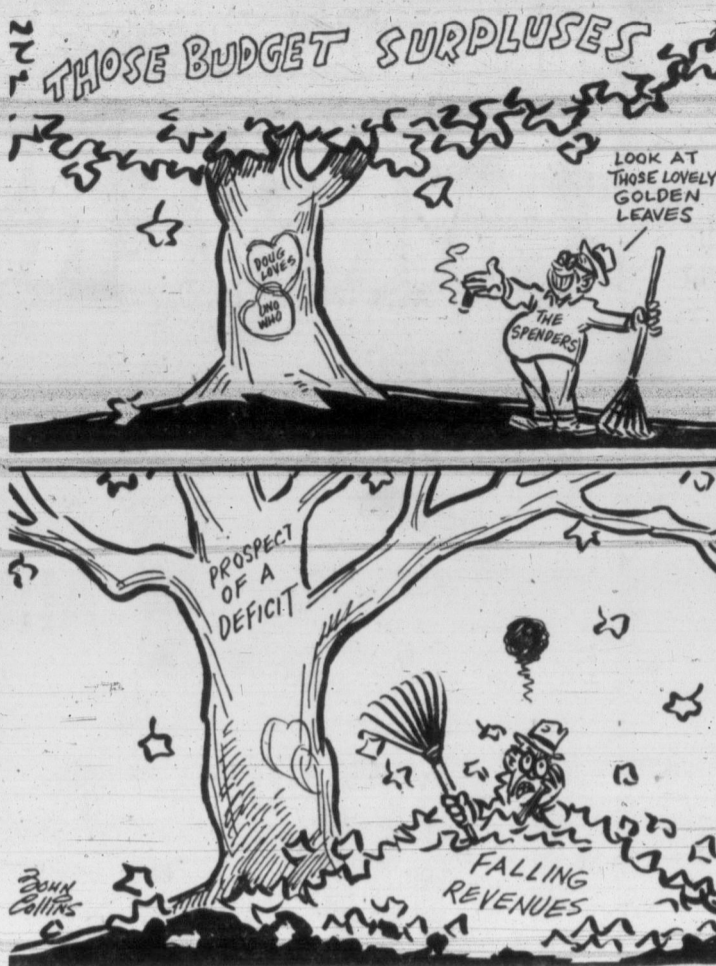

Those Canadian officials who objected to his exploit have doubtless spoken for most people familiar with the waters' hereabouts. They protested a stunt which might have led not only to serious difficulties for Bergo, but to extreme danger for potential search of rescue crews.

The traditions of the sea might have compelled rescuers to go to his assistance under highly adverse conditions. Men may be prepared to risk their lives to save others—as they have done many times off this coast. But they should not be placed in jeopardy by a foolish and foolhardy undertaking such as Bergo's.

The bathtub voyage, serving no apparently useful purpose, was his own brain-child. This is one baby which might well be thrown out with the bath-water.

Melancholy Days in Ottawa

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

AND a happy Guy Fawkes' Day to all you English dynamites. I have never quite understood why men celebrate an averted explosion by staging millions of little (or big) explosions of their own. Perhaps they are in secret sympathy with Guido Fawkes, as I am myself. Or rather, I am in quite open sympathy. James the First was an awful man. If Fawkes was framed, as many now believe, my sympathy is just as great, but no greater.

What have I got against James the First? Well, here is one familiar example, among many. He imprisoned and killed Raleigh. "No man but my father," said James's wonderful son Henry, "no man but my father would keep such a bird in such a cage." Tell me one reason why I shouldn't burn James the First in effigy tonight.

THE GROTT

TALKING of fireworks, and of queer deeds in the dark, I paid a visit to a fine modern department store in a B.C. town just before Halloween. A power line had blown down, and the big store delayed its opening while candles and lanterns were lit. Being a very modern store, it has almost no windows, so when the old juice goes off, the architect is left laughing at the interdependence of modern miracles.

Shopping under such conditions was rather fun. True, the hot lunch to which I had invited my lady-love was now a cold snack. But it was served under the romantic light of a big lantern, and we felt we were at a barn dance. And we could hold hands if we so desired, for things under the counter were very dark, except for a pool of milk spilt by a child who didn't like the dark or else who did like the dark because he didn't like milk.

YOU could also talk to strangers, if you so desired. Strangers always warm up under unusual circumstances, unless they are shoplifters who are too busy taking advantage of the candlelight to be exactly courteous. (The woman next to us at the counter was explaining to a stranger that you just can't seem to see colors in the dark, and the other woman said no, by golly, that's right, you can't and it's enough to send you blind.) I had watched crowds of women around the bargain tables, peering at colors like poles and cheeping like mice and scurrying like squirrels. It was a great day for the rodents.

THERE are windows all right at the south end of the big grocery department, and here I stood to read some letters while my wife went to look for some tea that is cheap enough for me to drink all day and weak enough for me to drink all day but yet with some sort of flavor still lingering faintly through its more neutral qualities. (There is no such tea.) Standing right at the window with my back to the light, I failed to notice a man outside on the sidewalk. He had his nose pressed tight to the glass and was reading my mail over my shoulder. At least, he was when I turned and saw him. He was having an awful time with my brother Tom's writing, and I felt sorry for him. I tried to express my sympathy in pantomime, but the man mistook me for a lunatic and walked away in a dignified manner, shaking his head.

OF COURSE, he may have thought Tommy was a lunatic, not me. Especially if he read the letter all wrong. The man was at this paragraph when he quit reading: "Ted Clark has bought a TV set and he got a summons for going through a Stop Light on his way to buy it and I told him it served him right." The man may be a TV star, or he may be the wretched machine, the nasty peepshows. Or he may have been upset by the thought of Ted Clark buying a TV set, or by the thought of Ted getting pinched. He might even have been shocked by my brother spelling Stop Light with capital letters. But I think it was Tom's writing that shook him. To a stranger, that paragraph I have just quoted would read something like this:

"Ted Clamp leas brugit a TV net o giz a sunnis per joining through a Stop Light on his way to bury it o I told him that it served Jim right." It's a wonder the man didn't turn me in as a spy.

THERE was an enormous table covered with fireworks. But not one person, among all the hundreds of busy shop-lifters and lost children and human moles, had the gumption to toss a candle or a lantern onto that table. It seems incredible. The man out on the sidewalk wasn't the only chap who left there shaking his head. As Mr. Browning said:

But the sin I impute to each frustrate ghost
Was the unlit lamp and the ungrit loam
Though the end in sight was a crime.

I say,
You of the virtue (we issue join)
How strive you? De te, fabula!

He was talking neither of Guy Fawkes nor of candles and lanterns round a fireworks dump. But he might have been. Bob was a bit of an anarchist. So is a man who likes fireworks. So is the now slightly old-fashioned psychologist who tells you to go ahead and express yourself, even if your only ambition is to commit arson. Maybe I had better burn them all in effigy. The more dummies the better. I'm an anarchist too.

As Our Readers See It

'SOLICITOUS TO BLESS'

It has been said if we could see our selves as others see us we would act quite differently.

If this is true perhaps what I am going to say may help some people to see themselves.

The other day while travelling on the bus I happened to notice the many different kinds of earrings that women were wearing. Some were very small and others almost as large as bracelets. Some were becoming, others looked ridiculous and made those who wore them look like natives of some South Sea island.

Of course if all women were beautiful this dangling hardware would never be noticed but unfortunately this isn't so. Neither is the average man handsome. Therefore the less conspicuous our wearing apparel is, the better we look in the eyes of the public.

AN OBSERVER.

IF THIS BE SOCIALISM...

Premier Bennett is beginning to show his political petticoat. His recent statement that the Liberals are creeping socialists or semi-socialists is indeed interesting.

By his hasty outburst Premier Bennett places himself on record as being against such social measures as Old Age Pensions, Mothers Allowances, Unemployment Insurance and many other pieces of social legislation enacted by the Liberal government at Ottawa.

How can he possibly justify such a statement unless he opposes the many social services enacted by the Liberals?

The Liberal Party, as the government of Canada, has a long and outstanding record of achievement not only in its humanitarian outlook towards the Canadian people, but it has the respect and admiration of the people throughout the free world.

If this is creeping socialism Mr. Editor, let's have more of it.

ONE OF THE CREEPING SOCIALISTS

SCHOOL COMPARISON

The secular public school system reduces to a minimum the possibility of sowing enmities and divisive tendencies, and, on the other hand, is calculated to unite our youths to a common interest in the welfare of all, and of the nation as a whole.

Can that be said of the parochial, separate schools which so effectively separate children of the Roman Church from all other youthful fellow citizens and cultivates hatreds and animosities in their young minds, like teaching that Protestants are heretics and that their ministers are impostors?

To prove this we would refer the reader to the New Mission Book published in Canada not so long ago, bearing the "imprimatur" of the Roman Archbishop, John J. Glennon, dated September 28, 1918. Quote:

"You sin against faith by reading heretical Bibles, heretical and infidel books and papers. The Protestant Bible is not the word of God. You are not allowed, without very serious reasons, to assist at marriages or funerals, at which heretical ministers officiate. . . . The Roman Catholic priest alone can show his mission from God Himself. He alone is commissioned by the Pope, the lawful successor of St. Peter, the Vicar of Christ on earth. The ministers of the various sects have no authority, no commission from God; they are impostors."

Might I suggest that we contemplate the effect of that sort of teaching on the thinking and attitudes of a large segment of our youthful Canadians. Might I also suggest that there is quite definitely an ulterior motive back of that sort of teaching in this day and age and if the reader would like elaboration of that motive, he will find it capably set out in Paul Blanchard's book "American Freedom & Catholic Power", which is at the City Library.

If we wish to hurry the day when we shall all be, again, entangled in a "yoke of bondage" to the Roman church, let us now shell out our public funds to it.

EX-CATHOLICA

DOUBLE PAYMENT

About comparisons, here is one that might help to explain the matter of the Catholic School question:

Suppose you wish to travel to Halifax. You dislike travelling by train and wish to fly down. You are quite prepared to pay the higher cost of such travel. But now the government steps in and says: "Certainly you may fly; but first you must buy a ticket on the CNR and then you must pay a 10 per cent surcharge on your plane ticket. The surcharge is to assist the railways."

The whole country would be up in arms at such a dictatorial, unjust manner of doing business. Yet that is what is being done in this province in education. It is unjust!

However, it is argued, if we allow Catholics to have their own schools without double taxation, then we will be faced with a multiplicity of church schools: the Anglicans, Pentecostals, Seventh-Day Adventists, etc., will want schools. But in practice, that has not happened through a hundred years of existence in other provinces. And even if it did, do you not think that Canada would be a better country if all Anglicans learned to be better Anglicans, United Churchmen to be better United Churchmen, Pentecostals to be better Pentecostals? We do. And we want to see their right—if they wish to use it—protected even as we want our rights acknowledged.

It strikes us as particularly unfair that many people object to the right of minorities to educate their children in this province where the public schools are secular but will insist on the rights of minorities to educate their children according to their own conscience in Quebec, where the public schools are religious in character (and where the head of the separate schools, Protestant, has gone on record to say that they are being treated with the utmost generosity and want for nothing.) Really such double standards are unjust and unworthy of any reasoning man!

Out of the People's Hands

BY JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP, From Washington

THE election campaign has shown that our most important national problems are no longer being solved by the democratic process. Solving a problem by the democratic process means solving it in accordance with the popular will. In the simpler past electoral campaigns were merely consultations of the popular will. On every hustings, the great national problems were debated. Then the votes were cast, and the outcome crudely announced the popular will, not only as to individual candidates, but also as to the national problems that had formed the main topics of debate.

Until 1940 or thereabouts, that was the American way. Until 1940, it was inconceivable that any great national problem of real life-and-death significance should not be thrashed out in public debate. But that is not the American way any longer, as anyone can see who has followed the last two months of strident political arguments.

Everyone will agree, surely, that the decision on the H-bomb was one of the major American choices of the post-war period. In that case, the popular will had a certain influence, although not a decisive influence.

PUBLIC PRESSURE

While those with "Q-clearance" were arguing about whether or not to build the H-bomb, the fact that an H-bomb was feasible was published to the world (by these reporters, incidentally). When that fact became known, public pressure was generated which considerably hastened President Truman's decision. And if the President had wished to decide the problem the other way (which he did not) public pressure would have prevented him from doing so.

Now, however, problems just as important as the H-bomb problem are being daily weighed in the secret circles of the government. Yet the popular will has no influence at all, for the very simple reason that the country does not know enough about these problems or have any will or view about them.

One example is the air defense problem. Another, fantastically enough, is the problem of the artificial satellite of the earth. It is curious, but it is also true that while the politicians have been arguing about "peace and prosperity," those with Q-clearance have been arguing about a crash program to build a man-made heavenly body.

The technicalities of the debate about the satellite must be covered in another report. It is enough to say here that the feasibility of an artificial satellite has long been admitted, and that the present argument about a satellite crash program started because of a boast in one of the Soviet military publications that a Soviet satellite would take the air within ten years.

Such a small, man-controlled moon, circling the earth several times daily, telemetrically reconnaissance reports back to its controllers, could be another military development almost as decisive as the H-bomb itself. As in the case of the H-bomb debate, the American fate and future is quite probably bound up in the satellite debate. But far from being carried on before the American people, this debate that may so deeply influence the people's future has been most closely restricted to the most secret circles.

Not only weapons problems, either, are now restricted to the tiny minority of the Q-cleared. International problems of the utmost gravity and urgency have been handled in this campaign with the wildest unreality. But because great parts of those problems are hidden behind the classification curtain, and because every one of the problems is enormously remote from common, every day experience, the orators who have touched on them have not away with talking the most transparent balderdash.

CHANGED POLICY

Last spring, a majority of the National Security Council, conspicuously including Vice-President Nixon, was convinced that we ought to fight to save Indo-China if necessary to preserve the free world's position in Asia. This summer, a majority of Republican politicians, again including Vice-President Nixon, has been representing the new Munich in Indo-China as a triumph for Republican peacefulness. A good many Republicans have come very close to echoing Neville Chamberlain's boast, that he had brought "peace in our time."

No Democrat called these Republican boasts, despite the fact that every informed man in Washington knows that the second phase of the Indo-Chinese Munich is probably imminent, and knows too that a Chinese Communist attack on this island outpost of Formosa may well take place next spring. One way or another, in short, those national problems which are likely to determine what kind of world our children will live in, have ceased to be subject to popular will and the democratic process.

MARKED for READING AMONG FRIENDS

The best idea of a novelist's public that ever I heard came from a reader who told me he hated my new book and knew he would hate it. And when I asked him why he'd read it, he said in a melancholy way that he was one of my oldest public. A novelist's public, in fact, is people who read everything he writes even when they hate it. They're like those friends who come to see us even when we have bad colds or are in a bad temper. They are almost like wives and husbands who marry for better or worse. Because the relation is essentially mutual—a relation of two persons—the reader knows more of less what to look for in that writer, he has, so to speak, got his wavelength and can tune in. And what he gets is the writer's meaning, or at least he gets the meaning that writer has for him.

—Jorge Cay, British novelist.

After the Winter of Discontent

LAST year about this time schools, school teachers and school children in this region seemed to be still deep in the winter of public discontent. This year, though, winter hasn't been made glorious summer by any particular person or event, schools, school teachers and school children seem to be enjoying a more favorable climate.

Maybe the public and the highly academic people are satisfied with the spankings administered so generously to the system, personnel and products last year and the year before. Maybe they feel further chastisement isn't necessary at the moment.

Whatever the reason, the educational system, its practitioners and its following haven't been taken to the woodshed recently.

It may be important to note that they've been doing in this period of comparative calm. Today the teachers of Vancouver Island are holding their eighth annual convention here. They opened it last night with a public meeting and this morning and afternoon they focussed the microscope on their own trade—or call it profession if you will.

"This year," the energetic young man who looks after convention public relations explained, "we're trying to concentrate on the actual work of teaching, to find out by discussion and by advice from pretty good people in their own fields how we, as teachers, can do a better job."

If the several hundred teachers attending the different meetings go away with a fresh idea or two that will improve their work, and if they can suggest changes to make the courses in the schools better, they will have made the convention worthwhile.

BACK TO ENGLISH

Had you been able to listen to some of the discussions you might have been impressed by one attitude that is gaining ground among teachers—an attitude that seeks to bring the vocabulary of teachers back to words that mean something. There is a well defined attack on pedagogy. There are teachers who believe it is right and proper to say that a child who didn't make the grade failed. They aren't impressed by the psychological superiority of the phrase "implying the child suffers from 'inadequate retention' of the material he is supposed to have studied. They're prepared to call a spade a spade.

That approach should be welcomed by the public and the parent. Delicate euphemisms can be carried too far and once established as official language help to take educational feet off the ground.

Changes do occur in the professional vocabulary. For quite a different reason the much-maligned course in "Effective Living" is "Effective Living" no more. It is now "Health and Personal Development"—"H. and P.D." as the trade calls it.

If you didn't like "Effective Living" you don't have to worry about it any more. Which probably goes to prove that a rose by any other name is a rose, is a rose, is a rose, or is Rose like anything.

THE PRODUCT

However you figure it, teachers on the Island are slugging into the job of trying to do a better job. They're doing that with a pretty fair appreciation, too, of the student material they are expected to teach. The teachers venture the opinion, from time to time, that all the youngsters aren't quite as bad as occasional reports on juvenile delinquency may suggest. At the moment the public seems receptive to that point of view.

It was nicely illustrated the other evening by one of Victoria's more popular classic instructors who noted an appeal made in her school for Poppy Day tags.

"Just to be in character," she explained, "I reminded the senior girls of a Latin idiom by which the Romans 'did' rather than 'gave' their thanks. After I had recalled the service to country of the boys in the forces, I asked them if they'd like to 'do' thanks by tagging on Saturday. The response was pretty gratifying, even from some who work Saturdays but were willing to give up their lunch hours to help. The students today don't all break small boulevard trees on Halloween."

The incidents of the Vancouver Island Teachers' Convention, the change in course names by the department and the willingness of students to help in tagging may not, in themselves, be very spectacular. They do, on the other hand, reflect attitudes that are encouraging—attitudes that appear to flourish when participants in education aren't suffering the winter of public discontent.

Not that such winters are always welcome. They help to kill off unwelcome bugs in any system—and sometimes they don't kill valuable growth itself.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Convulsions in Infants

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant to Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Many a poor mother has been scared half to death by having her infant go into convulsions. Usually this happens when the child has some infection which produces a fever. Usually, in the past, the treatment has been to put the child into a tub of warm water, so as to bring relaxation. Probably in most cases the convulsion just stops by itself.

The big question then is what does the thing mean, and does it spell danger for the future? Sometimes it does mean danger. Today, experts on epilepsy know that a few of these children will have convulsions in later years. Some of them, in their twenties or later, will develop true epilepsy. (Please note, I did not say all of them.)

Evidently, then, convulsions in infancy can show that a child has a convulsive tendency. Intelligent parents who are much worried about this might well get an electroencephalogram made, not only of the child (preferably after he or she is over eleven), but of themselves. With this record of the tiny electric currents which are produced in different parts of the brain, an expert can usually say whether the person studied has a "dysrhythmia," or a familial tendency to epilepsy. Naturally, it is hopeful and reassuring when the electroencephalogram is found to be normal.

We physicians feel most hopeful about the child whose parents and grandparents and uncles and aunts and cousins and brothers and sisters are all normal and have never had either a fit or any marked peculiarity of temperament. It should be remembered that often the somewhat affected relatives of an epileptic do not ever have any convulsions.

HEREDITY MAY FIGURE

But an expert will note in a few of them queer nervous troubles, and perhaps a violent temper. In some families in which epilepsy appears, there may have been an aunt or an uncle or a grandfather who at times was not quite sane, or there may have been some relative whose mind did not develop as it should.

Please note that I said some are like this; I did not say that all are. I hope readers will realize that if I discuss this difficult subject it is not just to enrage them, but to help those many distracted mothers who are so hungry for a little information to help them with a child who gets an occasional convulsion.

There is also the possibility that a convulsive tendency came because of some injury to the brain at birth or in early childhood.

SYNOPSIS—The warmest November night on record at Vancouver airport saw a new November rainfall record set when the gauge measured 1.81 inches in the 24 hours before 4:30 a.m.

However, this record was dwarfed by another set on the west coast of Vancouver Island when Pachena Point was deluged with 5.86 inches in the last 24 hours. Weather will continue showery today over the whole province but some clearing will take place and the number of showers will be considerably less on Saturday. Temperatures will start a downward trend tonight but still remain higher than the normal for early November.

Egad! The Jordan Jump's Back at Eton

LONDON (UP)—Old boys of Eton from Sir Anthony Eden on down had something to cheer about today—Britain's biggest and most famous public school has its steeplechase jump back.

As far as anybody knows, Eton boys have staged a cross-country run, including a jump over Jordan Brook, ever fall since King Henry VI, who was adjudged insane and spent most of his reign in chains, founded the school in 1440.

The Jordan jump was abolished during the Second World War to save clothing and laundry bills. It was restored Thursday at the home stretch of the three-and-a-half-mile course.

Some of Britain's bluest young bloods took the 14-foot leap in stride. But most fell short into two feet of water and came up with mouthfuls of mud.

Prince William of Gloucester, the 12-year-old cousin of Queen Elizabeth, who is in his first year at Eton, made the run but he and other junior boys were exempt from the jump.

With Jordan jump back, old Etonians could hope wistfully for restoration of another tradition that vanished with the war—the silk top hats that Eton boys once wore every day of the week.

Flag-brimmed straw skimmers are the style at Harrow, alma mater of Sir Winston Churchill.

10 Years in Jail

For Possessing Drugs

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Roland W. Brunel, of Prince George, was sentenced here Thursday to 10 years in the penitentiary on a charge of drug possession, for the purpose of trafficking.

Maude E. Truman, charged with the same offense, was found not guilty by Judge E. W. Woodburn.

Police testified the pair were arrested Sept. 24 about seven miles south of here after their car was halted by a road block.

A search uncovered five hypodermic needles, an eyedropper and 390 capsules of heroin.

Prince of Wales College at Charlottetown, P.E.I., was founded in 1860.

FIRST 'MARTIAN' CASUALTY

L'HERMITAGE, France (Reuters)—The first casualty in a war between French peasants and "Martians" was reported here today.

A grape picker mistook a fellow worker for a visitor from outer space in the dark Thursday night and attacked him so savagely with a club that one ear was torn off before the attacker realized his mistake.

It was the latest in the series of Martian incidents rampant throughout France. Several peasants have reported seeing flying saucers and spacemen land and a number of pitchfork-wielding peasants have ambushed fellow countrymen.

Until Thursday night either their aim had been bad or the intended victim was able to shout out in time.

Matisse Burial Monday

NICE, France (Reuters)—Henri Matisse, great French modern painter who died at his villa here Wednesday afternoon, will be buried Monday in the Cemetery du Chateau, oldest in Nice. No one has been interred there for many years and special permission had to be obtained for the Matisse burial.

Ottawa Gives No Consideration To Naming Next Governor-General

OTTAWA (CP)—British newspapers are proposing Queen Mother Elizabeth as Canada's next governor-general but the question of a successor to Governor-General Massey is not being considered here at present.

The cabinet to my knowledge has not discussed who will be governor-general after Mr. Massey's term expires," a government informant said Thursday.

London newspapers proposing the Queen Mother as governor-general include the Conservative Daily Mail and Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express.

Mr. Massey's term as governor-general still has two years to run and there have been suggestions that it may be extended.

When Mr. Massey was appointed in 1952, Prime Minister St. Laurent made it clear that selection of a Canadian-born governor-general for the first time did not mean his successor would be another Canadian.

The informant said this means that the next governor-general could be from the United Kingdom, some other Commonwealth country or Canada.

$250,000 Research Laboratory Opened at Nanaimo Pulp Plant

NANAIMO — British Columbia's multi-million dollar forestry industry took one huge step forward Thursday with the opening at Harmac pulp mill of a $250,000 research laboratory.

The handsome new building, overlooking the $40,000,000 mill, will house plywood and pulp research facilities, a laboratory for pure research into use of wood products, and offices of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. forestry and eastern division logging divisions.

Civic and business leaders from all points on Vancouver Island were on hand to hear Premier W. A. C. Bennett, accompanied by Lands and Forest Minister R. E. Sommers and Trade and Industry Minister Ralph Chetwynd, declare the building officially opened.

RESEARCHERS LEAD
"I am called upon to do more and more traveling about the province to demonstrate your government's pride and satisfaction in these industrial achievements," he said. "Fortunately, I am discovering that I can count on MacMillan & Bloedel operations to give me that pleasure from time to time at a handy distance from the capital."

He said the province "owes a great deal" to the men whose spirit is symbolized in the new laboratory, and reviewed use of the forests from the time when only perfect, easily accessible trees were taken for ships' masts to today, when full utilization is the goal.

Qualicum High Band Scheme Gains Headway
QUALICUM BEACH — Plans for the formation of a high school band here took another step forward with the approval of a scheme for rental of instruments, with rental fees to apply on the purchase price if the band continues in operation.

Scheme was adopted by the sponsors, Qualicum Beach Branch, Canadian Legion, at its meeting last week. Instrument rentals will be about $90 a month, which will be raised by sponsored events, with some donations.

Only larger and more expensive instruments will be provided in this manner. Smaller instruments will be the property of students, who will pay a small monthly fee for instruction which will go to upkeep costs. Instructor is V. J. Keating of the high school's teaching staff, an experienced bandman. Estimate calls for a 27-piece military-type band, and students' applications for membership are already far in advance of this figure.

Mrs. Ken Buxton Elected to Lead Cub-Scout Group

LANGFORD — Mrs. Ken Buxton was re-elected president of the Langford Group Scout Committee Wednesday at the Community Club Hall.

Mrs. M. Roberge was named vice-president, Ken Buxton was re-elected secretary, and Murray Cameron is treasurer.

Representatives to attend district council meetings for the next year are Mrs. E. Powell, Mrs. D. Pringle, Mrs. K. Craddock, and Colin Barwick.

Robert Milks, district executive officer, emphasized the necessity of parents attending meetings and helping the Scout and Cub movement in any way possible.

The committee and workers will meet November 11 at 9 a.m. to pour cement for the Cub-Scout building on the Community Club grounds. The women's auxiliary will serve coffee, and work will continue on Sunday mornings.

A paper drive will be held November 13.

Vancouver Island Lumber Shipped To Distant Ports

NANAIMO — Seventeen deep-sea vessels sailed from here during October to almost every corner of the globe with upwards of 6,000,000 feet of lumber aboard.

Great Britain, with 4,100,000 feet, was top buyer. Others were South Africa, 1,000,000; Australia, 653,000; Portuguese East Africa, 300,000; and the U.S.A., 400,000.

Eight thousand tons of pulp were shipped from Harmac, and 10,000 tons of iron ore from Texada Island were shipped to the U.S.A. and Japan. More than 1,250,000 pounds of salmon were shipped from here to U.S. coastal towns.

Coastwise vessels passing in and out of Nanaimo Harbor, mainly tugs, fish packers, and oil tankers on regular delivery schedules, totalled 870. U.S. tugs left here for southern ports with between 200 and 300 sections of logs unsuitable for lumber.

Elderly Driver Committed For Manslaughter

Wife Victim In Accident

DUNCAN — A 71-year-old Port Alberni man, William Repton Jackman Piggott, was committed by Magistrate W. H. Bryant for trial to a higher court here Thursday on a charge of manslaughter.

Mr. Piggott was the driver of a small car in which his wife, Mrs. Adelaide Piggott, 64, died Oct. 10 soon after it collided with another vehicle driven by Lee Hing Tong, Victoria, on the Trans-Canada Highway, four miles north of Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. Piggott were travelling south at the time of the accident and Lee's car was proceeding to Nanaimo. John Schedel, 11, and Malcolm Bennett, 12, both testified that Piggott's car swung out into Lee's lane while trying to overtake another vehicle.

At the end of the five-hour hearing, Piggott was allowed out on bail set at $2,000.

Scout Group Hears Pioneer Guide Leader

DUNCAN — Miss N. C. Denry, one of the first troop leaders in England prior to the First World War, and an active Girl Guide leader in Canada after the war, was guest speaker at the annual dinner of Duncan-Chemalms Scout Association.

"In these days of red tape and over-organization, the vision of the founder of scouting must be kept clear," she said.

Association officers for the ensuing year were named as follows:

Col. L. V. Sahdys-Wunsch, president; Col. M. E. Dopping, honorary district commissioner; Air Marshal Sir Philip Livingston, KBE, vice-president; Mrs. R. E. King, secretary; A. M. Dirom, treasurer; W. K. L. Farquhar, G. H. Dobson, Rev. R. A. Lombard, Mrs. R. E. Lundahl, G. M. Berry, A. Baynes, Mrs. Sandys-Wunsch, R. G. E. Bruce, F. A. Considine, Mrs. I. Morrison, F. W. Fearman, general committee.

Scoutmaster William Powell received a commissioner's training course certificate from the provincial commissioner in the feature award of the evening.

Harbor Master Fined $150

NANAIMO (CP) — Ben Abrams, Nanaimo harbor master, was fined $150 and costs in police court here Thursday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while his ability was impaired.

Police witnesses said they were controlling traffic Wednesday night where fire hoses were extended across a street to a minor blaze. They said Abrams was signalled to stop but he did not do so before the wheels of his car were over a hose line.

Union Troubles Plague Up-Island Theatre Project

DUNCAN — Carpenters working on the renovation of Odeon Theatre, Station Street, refused Thursday to cross a picket line of union painters set up to protest hiring of non-union painters on the job.

Unless union difficulties can be overcome, the planned re-opening of the building after its $100,000 remodelling may be delayed.

Duncan painters are said to be one of the last groups on Vancouver Island to remain unorganized, and are stated to have been "lukewarm" toward organizers.

Later in the day the carpenters were ordered back to work.

NANAIMO METER TRAPS VETERAN AUTO DRIVER

NANAIMO — It took 50 years of auto driving along all kinds of highways, from the broad open prairies and hub-deep gumbo to the wide sweep of U.S. speedways, before Rev. L. B. Henn, Nanaimo, collected an official blemish to his early English driver's license.

The first license was issued to him at Blackpool, Eng., half a century ago. For 37 years he drove his car through thousands of miles of prairie mud as a Methodist minister in Saskatchewan. Still later he ground down the mountainous trails of the Cariboo, and even later still bounced over the cobblestones and rough highways and byways in the Nanaimo district.

All that driving with nary an accident or blemish on his driver's license until Thursday morning, when he collected one blue parking ticket.

Place: Nanaimo's main street.

ANSWER RIDDLE OF PAST?

Ancient Stone Sculpture Antedates Known History

NANAIMO — Discovery of a solid piece of sandstone carved in the shape of a reptile's head has sparked a new theory that civilization could be much older in the Pacific Northwest than most experts have believed.

The head was unearthed by Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Pauls while excavating the basement of their new home at Boat Harbor, about eight miles south of Nanaimo. The stone is carved in detail with nostrils, eyes and mouth clearly showing, and described as one of the finest pieces of ancient carvings ever discovered in coastal regions.

The discovery was made about two feet below the surface in a cleared area overlooking Boat Harbor. The carving appears to belong to the same period as the carvings on the rock at Petroglyph Park, two miles south of Nanaimo, which to date have defied man to estimate their age.

There are similar carvings at Sproat Lake, while in the old Bastion in Nanaimo is an inscribed rock known as the "Hepburn Stone," found here several years ago 22 feet below the surface.

GANGES — Members of Saltspring Teen Town, with Mayor Lynn Young as convener, entertained younger residents of Saltspring Island at a Halloween party.

A huge bonfire and fireworks display was held here, and winners in the costume parade were Linda Anderson, Denis Beech, Valerie Barker, Diane Haldy, Daphne and Laurie Mount, Jill Scott, Heather Stuart, Elizabeth Wells, and Elaine Young.

Costume judges were Mrs. I. Devine, Mrs. D. Fanning, and Mervin Gardner, and the fireworks display was staged by D. L. Goodman, Gail Gardner, Doug Wagg, and Don Goodman.

J. E. Parker Named Trustee

QUALICUM BEACH — J. E. (Ted) Parker was elected to a two-year term as trustee at the meeting of ratepayers in the high school here.

He received two votes more than Phil J. Eggersman, retiring trustee. Vote was 36 to 34 in favor of Mr. Parker.

Mr. Eggersman served as trustee for nine years on the board of School District 69 (Qualicum), including seven years as board chairman. His term of office has included the building of the junior-senior high school here, the junior high school in Parksville, and several smaller schools and additions in the district.

As representative for Qualicum Beach, Murray Cree was appointed with 42 votes over Mrs. R. H. Hodgson with 27.

Vote of thanks to Mr. Eggersman for the work which he has done in school matters was proposed by H. J. Welch. Garney St. Germain and Mel Strain were scrutineers in the election.

Von Neurath's Release Okayed by West Allies

BONN (AP)—The three Western Allies today accepted a Russian proposal to free Konstantin von Neurath, Hitler's foreign minister, from Spandau war crimes prison. A senior Allied official said the three Western high commissioners in Germany so informed the Soviet high commissioner, G. M. Pushkin, in separate notes. Pushkin had proposed to the Allies Wednesday that von Neurath, 81, should be freed because of old age and ill health.

Tomlinson Bros. Ltd. was fined $100,000 in Port Arthur Oct. 18 after pleading guilty to defrauding the government of $360,000. Similar charges were dropped against the firm's vice-president, William S. Tomlinson, and its superintendent, C. W. Taylor, after they pleaded guilty on behalf of the company.

The council unanimously adopted a complaint by its legislative committee that "not one person was sentenced to jail for making a profit, after fines, of $260,000."

The issue came up last Saturday in Indianapolis when Indiana Democratic National Committeeman Paul Butler said an Indiana toll road contract had gone to the Tomlinson Construction Co. of Toronto, which he said was a subsidiary of the convicted firm.

Butler said the firm had "a record which is highly questionable," and that a probe of its affairs would come up in the state legislature next year.

The labor council report called for the second time this year, for the resignation of Ontario Highways Minister George Doucet and Premier Leslie Frost and establishment of a royal commission to investigate mismanagement of public funds in the highways department.

Committee member L. H. Rosen charged that special crown prosecutor Charles Dubin had been guilty of a "disgusting exhibition" in failing to press for jail terms for the firm's officers.

He said the crown should have appealed the cases in an attempt to have officials of the company jailed and $260,000 returned to the people of Ontario.

Gail Russell Ill With Liver Infection

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Gail Russell has been in a hospital for more than a week suffering from hepatitis, a liver infection, her physician, Dr. J. Howard Payne, said Thursday night.

The doctor added that Miss Russell was in critical condition when she was admitted but is recovering, though still "a very sick girl."

CIVIC AUDITORIUM PLANS UNDER STUDY BY KINSMEN

Plans for a civic centre-auditorium prepared for members of the Victoria Kinsmen Club were tabled by the clubmen when presented at their meeting Thursday night.

A heavy agenda did not allow time for a full discussion of the project, so the matter was left for a future meeting. The club meets again in two weeks' time.

Kinsmen are faced with decision on whether to go ahead with a campaign to raise funds for the project. They already have a site in mind, behind the Royal Theatre on Blanshard Street.

Defence is everybody's business

One or two evenings a week, in thousands of Canadian homes, doors open wide. From them come young men who have accepted full responsibility as free Canadians . . . the responsibility of helping to preserve the freedom we all enjoy. They do it by serving part-time as Citizen-Soldiers in the Militia. Their training, skill and devotion is combined into one great common effort — to build a strong Militia capable of helping to defend Canada.

Ron Millicamp is typical of many young Canadians who realize the necessity for and the practical advantages of Militia service. By this service, they are training to be ready and able to protect their own families and communities, in time of emergency. Many more young men are needed to help in this great national effort. How about you? Are you doing your share?

In the Militia, planned periods of training will help you qualify, step by step, to the status of trained citizen soldier.

In the Militia, you are paid for the time spent in training at the rate for which you qualify.

Men from every walk of life join the Militia in the great common cause of protecting the freedom we enjoy.

By BILL WALKER

Wouldn't you have guessed it?

The suggestion now is that there be an hourly wage for caddies, with overtime yet.

Three million caddies should agree, and so should anyone else who wants to get home in time for a hot supper.

It's one way of putting a stop to the cluttering up of golf courses.

What? You don't use a caddy? You tote your own cart? That's okay but if you want to be pushy, you may be glad to have someone do the heavy work. It's come to that.

Forgetting the electric golf buggy, because that's for the Palm-Springs type, there's a few gimmicks on the market that could make the average golfer, if he goes for the lot, look like a Gypsy out-of-bounds.

First of all, with an eye to comfort, there's a neat little pull-out seat that comes attached to the new variety of cart. If you're held up, you sit down.

Keeping Tab

Then there's a scorekeeper. It comes in the form of a wrist watch. Just wrap it around your arm and press a small button after every stroke. Want to check up on your opponent? Really? Then press the other knob. Won't he get a surprise? Better still, it fits any pocket.

Few hunters are without one, and most golfers could use one. A "retriever," that is, this is a gadget that could be said to look like a golf club in that it folds up to occupy the same space. Not recommended for shopping tours, unless you wear billowy skirts, its use on the golf course is self-explanatory when playing the fourth at Colwood or recovering various items, including golf balls, that come to rest on the other side of a barbed wire fence.

"Goldmeters" are another vogue now seen in the best circles. This little gadget tells you exactly how far you've belted that tee shot. Thus, on simple arithmetic—there's a rack that fits on the caddy cart to hold a scorecard and pencil (cigarettes, too)—you can figure out how far you have to paste the next one.

What's all this got to do with those caddies mentioned earlier who may find it more profitable to work by the hour than the match?

Silly folk! If you get all these contraptions, you'll need a caddy to haul the cart around, or, if you like, to hold the umbrella while you climb down from your electric jazz buggy.

Still, the idea is that you won't have to pay more than the going price if you can get around 18 holes in less than three and one-half hours. After that the price is a buck every 30 minutes or any part thereof.

Double Saving

At this rate, you'd be penalized double, both on the course and at the 19th. Look at the money (and time) you'd lose.

For the fan, the best, for sure, will be in evidence this Sunday at Victoria Club when Bob Fleming and John Merriman, the former button winning juniors from Gorge Vale, attempt to regain their former prestige from Bob Morrison and Frank Scroggs of Uplands, present button holders.

Except for the button matches and the Bryant two-ball foursomes at Colwood, things are fairly quiet locally. A two-ball foursome, in case you didn't know, is a match where the worst you can do is to be half as bad as you normally would.

The rains came yesterday but that didn't stop Dr. George Bigelow showing Charlie Duncan of Edmonton around the Oak Bay course with Fred Ranson assisting. Duncan is professional Henry Martell's assistant at Mayfair. That famous foursome was out at Colwood again the other day, Vic Painter enjoying the privilege of seeing Derek Rhys-Jones, Harold Lineham and Jimmy Simpson squirm under a wallet-wrenching 68, two under par.

Ken Lawson, who shares the course record of 65 at Uplands, got a big jump last week in a chance to break the mark, only to falter slightly coming home. Ken shot a record-equaling 32 on the front nine, which in winter and into a north wind is a commendable feat. He "went to sleep" on the so-called easy nine, better known to Uplands members as "Scroggs' Alley," taking a 38 for a 70.

Want a junior to watch? Tab Alfie Ockwell of Uplands as a comer if he continues to show the same determination that has marked his progress to date.

Champions in Any Book

Two of Canada's internationally famous women sports champions recently got together for a chat while attending the Ottawa Winter Fair. # Drakes Get Aid For Grid Clash

Oak Bay Drakes may be strengthened by the addition of four Mayo Vampire players for their intermediate Canadian football exhibition clash Saturday at Macdonald Park against Vancouver Cubs.

Drakes' British Columbia champions, are scheduled to meet Cubs in the first contest of a home-and-home, two-game series Saturday afternoon at 2. Four members of the Vampires team, runner-up to Drakes in a recent two-game playoff series, are turning out to practices and may be in-strip Saturday.

Pass-throwing quarterback Wayne Henderson, end Rickie McVie, guard Joe Fry and tackle Gordie Gordienko may see action if they can master the Oak Bay plays in the short time before the contest.

A dangerous passer and a quick thinker, Henderson would bolster the club considerably. McVie, Fry and Gordienko have all been standouts the past season for Vampires.

Drakes are expected to run plays mainly from the newly adopted T formation, using the single wing only on occasions.

Drakes, who decided at a Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football League meeting this week not to put their title at stake for the series, are tentatively scheduled to travel to Vancouver on November 14.

Gain Grid Final

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Rods gained a berth in the Western Canada Junior Football final Thursday night when they overcame Westwood Wildcats 22-6 in the second game of their two-game total-point series for the Manitoba-Saskatchewan championship.

HIGH GUN RESTED

NEW YORK (BUP)—Belmont Stakes winner High Gun, the leading turf money winner of the year with earnings of $134,550, will race no more this season, trainer Max Hirsch said today.

Parker's Boss Boils At Nat's Ring List

TORONTO (BUP)—Heavyweight James J. Parker's manager became so incensed at ring magazine's latest rating of fighters that he flew to New York to protest a few hours after they came out Thursday. Bill Daley said he would tell editor Nat Fleisiger to his face that the listings were "cock-eyed."

Parker, who will fight Earl Walls for Walls' Canadian heavyweight title here next Tuesday night, wasn't listed among the top ten heavyweights. The magazine rated Walls eighth among contenders for the world title. "The ratings are cock-eyed," Daley yelled. They have Don Cockell in the No. 2 spot and he never licked anybody.

"Parker went 10 rounds with the leading contender, Nino Valdes, and yet a guy who was flattened by Valdes a few months ago (Heinz Neuhaus) is ranked fourth. Parker beat Jimmy Slade, who is ranked fifth, and beat Cockell."

"It doesn't make sense to me."

Francisco, Paddy DeMarco defends his lightweight crown against Jimmy Carter here Nov. 17, and Bob Olson gives Joey Giardello a shot at his middleweight title Dec. 15. The latter bout figures to be a terrific attraction—one which only a short time ago would have been held in the populous east.

San Francisco is rich in boxing history. Jim Corbett, the first great heavyweight champion of the modern school, was born in the Golden Gate city and did all his fighting there in the 1880's. Bob Fitzsimmons fought and won his first bout in the United States there in 1890.

One is impressed with the hold San Francisco had on the game from around 1880

EDMONTON IN SECRET DRILLS

Eskimos Favored in Grid Final

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Eskimos have dropped the "pigskins curtain" over their preparations for the first game here Saturday against Winnipeg Blue Bombers for the Western Interprovincial Football Union championship.

Explaining the locked-gate policy, coach Frank "Pop" Ivy said, smiling: "We have not got any secret weapons but it seems there have been one of two alien-looking characters hovering around our recent workouts. I decided a little privacy wouldn't hurt."

But Ivy's little oratory was not as heated as the sounds from Winnipeg and Bombers' coach Al Sherman who said he figured his "rinky dinks" deserved a little recognition.

Said Sherman: "Nobody believes we have a good club, but now my rinky dinks are starting to scratch a bit, on heart and guts."

WINGS TOP BRUINS

Hawks Told To Win—Do

It's a little early to talk about clutch games in the National Hockey League, but Chicago Black Hawks said they won one Thursday night.

The ailing Hawks, told by coach Frank Eddolls that they needed this one even if some Chicago players got hurt, took the prodding seriously and defeated New York Rangers 3-1 at Chicago.

It was the Hawks' second victory of the season and pushed them out of last place for the first time this year. Eddolls didn't say why he considered it a "must game," but it was obvious that he figured it was as good a time as any for the Hawks to start winning games. Nobody was injured, either.

In the only game, the Howless Detroit Red Wings beat Boston Bruins 3-2 in Boston to move into a first-place tie with the Montreal Canadiens. Bruins, with only one victory and three ties in nine games, slipped into the cellar.

TEMPORARY TIE

The Chicago scoring was handled by Larry Wilson, Dick Gamble and Jack McIntyre.

Danny Lewicki tied the game temporarily in the second period but the Rangers couldn't do anything after that. It was Lewicki's seventh goal in 11 games. The Rangers remained in third place, four points behind Detroit and Montreal.

HOWE IDLE

At Boston, leftwinger Ted Lindsay, playing without rightwinger Gordie Howe for the first time in five years of regular competition, scored the deciding goal at 16:20 of the second period. Howe was out with shoulder injuries received against the Maple Leafs in Toronto last Wednesday.

Antonelli Gets Hero's Welcome

ROCHESTER (AP)—Johnny Antonelli, New York Giants southpaw pitcher ace, received a hero's welcome and a new auto from his hometown fans here Thursday.

Antonelli, his wife, Rosemarie, and 14-month-old daughter, Lisa, came here from their Lexington, Mass., home for the "Johnny Antonelli day" celebration which began with a parade in the morning and ended with a banquet at night.

The 28-year-old World Series star was carried to city hall in a mile-long motorcade, was serenaded by his old high school's band, and was presented a foot-long key to the city by Mayor Samuel Dicker.

Aussie Golfers Lead U.S. Stars

SYDNEY, Australia (UP)—Australia took a 5-3 lead over the United States today by winning two foursomes matches in the second round of a golf series between professional stars of the two countries.

Norm Von Nida and Jim McInnes scored a 3 and 1 victory over Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., and Dave Douglas of Grosinger, N.Y., while Kel Nagle and Ossie Pickworth beat E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Ladue, Mo., and Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., 5 and 3.

The final singles contests in the competition will be played Saturday.

Three rugby officials were scheduled to meet this afternoon to select a player roster for the club. Workouts will commence early next week.

Player selections will be made by Doug Bray, named as coach of Crimson Tide; Dick Ellis, former Victoria Rugby Union president and coach of Oak Bay Wanderers; and Alex McDonald, James Bay coach.

Other teams in the competition are Vancouver Reps, defending champions, and North Shore.

No Miller Cup action is scheduled for Victoria this week-end. Oak Bay Wanderers meeting Varsity on the mainland in a McKennie Cup inter-city match.

Crimson Tide will open the annual four-team series against UBC at Macdonald Park. Game time is 2:30.

'PEG COACH PREDICTS VICTORY

Quakers Needed More Than Max

Sherman predicted the Bombers will win the series in two straight games.

Coach Ivy also believes in winning as quickly as possible and as decisively as possible. In other words, two straight. The Eskimos are rated heavy favorites. Odds layers went 12.5 on Edmonton; Winnipeg is 9.5 against.

If the Eskimos win Saturday's best-of-three opener they'll find themselves up against an old playoff jinx.

In the last four years the winner of the first game of the finals has lost the next two. And the Edmonton club has been involved in all cases.

The Eks lost out three times but turned the trick themselves in 1952 when they dropped the first one to the Blue Bombers and then won two straight for a trip to Toronto.

Dockers Meet Bays In Soccer Feature

Two teams bidding to remain contenders in the Victoria and District Football League first-division race clash Saturday at Royal Athletic Park.

Esquimalt, trailing league-leading Heaneys by four points and third-place JBAA by one, will be the centre attraction on this weekend's soccer menu when they meet to continue the secondary first-division battle.

Game time is 2:30. In first-division action Sunday, Heaneys take on cellar-dwelling Victoria West at Heywood Avenue Park in an attempt to continue their mastery over other teams in the league.

Second-division action—Saturday will see Duncan Native Sons attempt to take over sole possession of first place when they go against Wood Motors at Heywood Avenue Park, while Canadian Scottish and Punjab United battle at Lower Beacon Hill.

Sunday, Combines and co-leaders Butler Bros. meet at Reynolds Road and Dutch Wanderers battle with Tillamook at Lower Beacon Hill.

All week-end games start at 2:30.

Crimson Tide Ruggers To Host Thunderbirds

Victoria Crimson Tide representative rugger side is scheduled to make its first appearance here this season Thursday, Armistice Day, against the University of British Columbia in a McKennie Cup inter-city match.

Crimson Tide will open the annual four-team series against UBC at Macdonald Park. Game time is 2:30.

Three rugby officials were scheduled to meet this afternoon to select a player roster for the club. Workouts will commence early next week.

Player selections will be made by Doug Bray, named as coach of Crimson Tide; Dick Ellis, former Victoria Rugby Union president and coach of Oak Bay Wanderers; and Alex McDonald, James Bay coach.

Other teams in the competition are Vancouver Reps, defending champions, and North Shore.

Vancouver 3, Saskatoon 2

SASKATOON (CP)—The all but helpless Saskatoon Quakers, basement tenants in the Western Hockey League, lost their sixth straight game here Thursday night despite the stick work of former NHL great Max Bentley.

The Quakers lost 3-2 to Vancouver Canucks enabling the coast team to move into a second-place tie with Calgary Stampede.

In the only game scheduled tonight, Edmonton Flyers move to Calgary, giving the Stamps a chance at sole possession of the runner-up spot.

Bentley, playing his first game with the Quakers since he was waived out of the NHL, figured in both Saskatoon goals.

He set up the first Quaker counter and then scored the second on an effort with his brother Doug, playing-coach of the prairie club.

Doug Adam, Billy Dea and Dale Sweeney scored for the Canucks, with Dea potting the winning mark.

The Canucks took a 1-0 lead at the end of the first period but Quakers came back to tie the score going into the third. Vancouver fired in two third-period goals before Saskatoon came through with their final counter.

The Quakers should have won the game in the second period. They outshot the Canucks 12-3 in the first period and then came out with a vengeance in the middle frame. In 20 minutes of play they poured 22 shots at Johnny Bower in the Vancouver goal while permitting only one at their own net.

Bower saved the Canucks again in the final period as he kicked out 12 shots against the four fired at Hicks.

The locals currently sporting a fourth-place standing with five points could return to Victoria victorious on two counts and riding in the runner-up spot with North Shore United, one point back of the league-leading Firefighters with 10 points.

If Victoria's protest over St. Andrews' failure to appear here last Saturday is upheld, and in all likelihood it will be, then the local team stands to gain an additional two points by default.

Royals are currently deadlocked with St. Andrews in the league cellar, a position which carries with it relegation to a playoff with the senior B leaders.

NHL President To Probe Charge

MONTREAL (BUP)—Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, promised today to investigate a charge of "conduct prejudicial to hockey" laid against assistant trainer Ross Wilson of the Detroit Red Wings.

Conn Smythe, president of the Maple Leaf Gardens, sent Campbell a wire saying Wilson insulted officials during Wednesday's game in Toronto between Detroit and the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Smythe said he heard Wilson yell at referee Red Storey, "Storey, you're yellow!"

OAKLAND, Calif. (UP)—Francis (Lefty) O'Doul, who three years ago was fired from his beloved San Francisco Seals, Thursday signed to manage the arch-rival Oakland Oaks for an indefinite period.

The former National League batting star said his pact with the Pacific Coast League club would last "from now on."

Salary terms were not officially revealed, but a club spokesman said that O'Doul would receive "a little better than $20,000 which he got for managing the San Diego Padres last season."

SUNDAY BLUE LAW MAY KEEP OTTAWA OUT

MONTREAL (BUP)—The chances of international baseball remaining in Ottawa for another year are getting slimmer every day.

And if the Sunday blue law on sports isn't repealed you can bet the Yankee stadium against the local sandlot no triple-A ball club will give Lansdowne Park a look-in.

"It's too expensive to operate in Ottawa under the existing conditions, league president Frank Shaughnessy remarked. "Without Sunday baseball, all teams are forced to make extra trips, in addition to the lost revenue."

U.S. Meets Brazil In World Cage Final

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (BUP)—The United States and Brazil, both undefeated in eight games, clash tonight for the world's amateur basketball championship.

The long-awaited meeting of the two teams, tied for first place in the round-robin final round of the championships is one of three games scheduled tonight as the tourney comes to a close. In the others, China plays Israel and the Philippines meets Uruguay.

Both of the co-leaders kept their records clean with easy victories last night, the United States romping to a 74-30 victory over Israel and Brazil closing with a rush to wallop Uruguay, 60-45. In the only other game last night, France clinched fourth place by defeating Canada, 66-62.

Canadian coach Jim Bullock predicted the United States will win but called Brazil "the fastest team I've ever seen."

PUTS WING ON SPOT

Smythe Scores NHL Hoarding

TORONTO (BUP)—Conn Smythe Thursday outlined a plan which National Hockey League owners will consider in New York next Tuesday to keep any club from hoarding desirable players.

Smythe, chairman of the NHL board of governors, indicated that the Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens should favor the plan, while the Detroit Red Wings may oppose it.

He suggested that a club's limit of protected players should be reduced from 18, and should be spread around among the other teams.

A club now can carry more than 18 men without dressing some of them, and Smythe thinks no player should warm a bench if he could see action with another team.

"The paying public deserves to see the best possible," he said. "The club owners should make sure that no player is sitting doing nothing. Other teams willing to spend should have these players available to them."

"We are trying to strengthen the weak clubs—if there are any—and Detroit, which has won the league title for six successive years, would only become more powerful if it didn't go along with us."

But the boss of Maple Leaf Gardens warned that "no one player will go from the Toronto Maple Leafs to strengthen any other club unless Detroit agrees to do something about it, too."

Chicago should certainly back the plan he said, after claiming that Benny Voigt, Metro Prystay, Marcel Bonin and Bill Dineen played a total of 16 minutes with Detroit in the Red Wings' 1-1 tie with Toronto here Wednesday.

"Voigt didn't play at all. The Black Hawks have been trying to get him for months," he said. "Prystay played eight minutes and Chicago had been trying to get him for two solid years. Bonin played 87 seconds."

He said no one wanted to give the Hawks "anything free," but suggested something "on a lend-lease basis, or something like that."

REGINA (CP)—Larry Isbell, left-footed kicker with Saskatchewan Roughriders, established a punting record in Western Interprovincial Football Union competition this year.

Statistics released Thursday by Bill Hawrylak, league statistician, showed Isbell averaged 46.3 yards a punt on 106 kicks. The old record of 44.7 yards was held by Butch Avinger, another left-footed hooper who performed for Saskatchewan Roughriders in 1952.

Isbell led in total yards on punts with 4,909, his longest traveling 83 yards, tops in the league this season. One of the former Baylor star's kicks was blocked.

Jack Jacobs of Winnipeg Blue Bombers made the most kicks, 114, for 4,619 yards. He averaged 40.4 yards, the longest one going for 82 yards. Eddie Lebaron of Calgary Stampeders punted 109 times for 4,264 yards and a 39.1 average. His longest punt traveled 80 yards. Four Lebaron kicks were blocked.

Another league record was set by Rider line coach Joe Aguirre who booted 19 field goals, well over the old mark of nine field goals hooped by Bud Korchak of Winnipeg a year ago. Joe found the range on 63.3 per cent of 30 field goal tries.

Calgary's Tom Miner also broke the old field goal record. The former Tulsa ace clicked on 14 of 30 field goal attempts. Edmonton's Bob Dean kicked eight field goals in 18 tries, while B.C.'s Al Pollard made good on six of 11 and Korchak booted four in 10 tries.

TO STAY?

Stuke's Fate To Be Known By Monday

VANCOUVER (CP)—The fate of Annis Stukus, football coach, will be known Monday night.

Directors of the B.C. Lions Football Club will decide then whether Stukus will coach the Lions in 1955, be offered some other job with the club, or will be paid $12,000 not to coach. His present contract still has a year to run.

Thursday night Lions president Don MacKenzie said, "I think Annis will get another unanimous vote Monday as our coach in 1955," despite rumors of dissatisfaction.

To suggestions that another coach might be hired, MacKenzie said, "Nuts. Let's look at the record."

"Nobody else sold football in this town but Stukus. Nobody took the abuse because we lost ball games but Stukus. Nobody deserves a chance to see if he can win with a real football team more than Stukus."

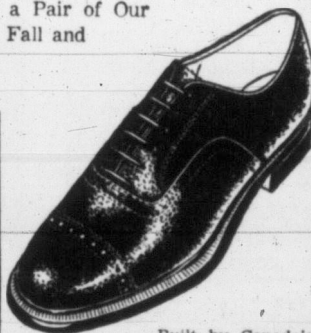

Stukus, meanwhile, had nothing to say except that he's "tired" and would like to get away on a scouting trip, delayed until after the meeting.

The Lions are believed to have operated at a profit of about $40,000 while losing all but one of 16 league and two exhibition games in their first year in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Spartak 'Red-Hot' Now Thanks to Thermodorium

LONDON (UP)—British soccer fans shivered today if the Moscow Spartak team's playing is as red hot as its Turkish baths — poor old Arsenal of London is in for another drubbing.

Arsenal went down to 5-0 defeat by Moscow's Spartak in the Russian capital last month. The Spartaks, cross-town rivals of the Spartans, landed in London yesterday.

The Russian team—18 players and nine "non-playing members" including Soviet sports chief Valentin Antipenko—plays Arsenal off Tuesday.

First the Russians had lunch. Scotch broth, halibut, rump steak with friend onions, peas and potatoes, stewed fruit and white wine.

Then they took a two-hour nap at the posh Park Lane Hotel, with single rooms for the non-players and doubles for the players.

After five minutes in the steam room, they complained it was too cold. So were the dry-heat rooms—the 130-degree tepidarium and the 160-caldarium.

On they went to the thermidorium, where the temperature is kept at 190 degrees, 22 degrees below boiling. Still they gestured that it wasn't hot enough.

The bath's sweating manager told reporters he pushed the temperature up past the boiling point.

"I was afraid the boilers would blow up," he said, "but Baker."

Toronto Firm Charged In Figurine Price Fix

Parsons-Stearns Alleged to Have Specified Prices on Doulton Products; B.C. Mentioned

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—A prosecution on charges of price fixing will be launched against Parsons-Stearns Ltd., Toronto firm, involving Doulton figurines, it was learned today.

Hearing of the case will get under way about mid-November in Toronto.

The action by the justice department arises out of a report to Hon. Stuart Garson, minister of justice, made by the restrictive trade practices commission. The report alleged that Parsons-Stearns was guilty of retail price maintenance in fixing prices for the sale of Doulton figurines and other high-class chinaware, in British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec.

The report was tabled in parliament last March. Parsons-Stearns is the Canadian distributor for figurines and other earthenware products manufactured by Doulton and Company Ltd. of England.

The report of the restrictive trade practices commission found that Parsons-Stearns had "induced or attempted to induce" various retailers to maintain retail prices specified by the Toronto company and "not to sell below such prices."

The commission also found that the Toronto distributing firm had "attempted to induce" four Vancouver wholesalers "to refrain from selling" Royal Doulton figurines to Household Fair Ltd., a Vancouver retail store the reason given, according to the report was that the Vancouver firm had been selling the figures at prices "less than the resale prices" specified by Parsons-Stearns.

The actions of the distributor in firm also allegedly induced another Vancouver wholesaler to maintain the wholesale prices specified by Parsons-Stearns for Royal Albert China and not to sell below such prices, the commission concluded.

Police Head Steps Out As New Mayor Sworn In

MONTREAL (CP)—J. Albert Langlois stepped down as police director Thursday night and reform Mayor Jean Drapeau said he made the move just in time to avoid suspension.

The burly 54-year-old police chief was allowed to go on a leave of absence by the city executive committee pending the outcome of his appeal against a judgment that found him guilty of tolerating vice in Montreal between 1941 and 1950. But he left with a pledge that "I'll be back in this office again."

The surprise development came only three hours before Mayor Drapeau was sworn into office. The new mayor said the police director's action "relieves me of the obligation of suspending him."

Mr. Langlois was one of 20 members and former members of the police department found guilty of tolerating commercial vice. He appealed the verdict by Mr. Justice Francis Caron and claimed his right to hold office until the case is heard.

Mr. Drapeau, one of Mr. Justice Caron's assistants in the 3½-year vice inquiry, said earlier that his first official act on taking office would be to suspend Mr. Langlois.

The police chief's request for a leave of absence without pay was granted by the city executive committee after day-long deliberations. Deputy Director Thomas O. Leggett automatically assumed command of the police force.

"I asked for a leave of absence and it was granted me," Mr. Langlois said. "But you can be sure I'll be back in this office again once everything is straightened out."

"I might as well take this leave of absence because they were going to suspend me anyway."

In a brief statement after Mr. Langlois' announcement, Mr. Drapeau said: "It is to be hoped that the reorganization of the police department can be effected in the near future."

Unidentified Man Burned to Death

OTTAWA (BUP)—One man died early today when fire swept through several apartments in a downtown Ottawa building.

Police and fire officials had only tentative identification of the dead man. Neighbors reported he was a "Mr. Travers" about 60, who had moved into the building a short time ago.

Damage to the building was considerable but fire officers said the victim suffocated in the intense smoke before the flames reached his room. Several other occupants of the building were forced to flee into the near-freezing predawn.

Chisholm Sees Teacher as Future's Key

Good Home, Rounded Education Vital to H-Bomb Era Children

Teachers could be the salvation of the human race providing they can make up for the deficiencies of modern parents, according to Dr. Brock Chisholm.

The noted psychologist and former director general of the UN World Health Organization addressed a crowd of close to 1,000 following opening ceremonies of the Eighth Annual Vancouver Island Teachers' Convention at Victoria High School Thursday night.

He said that parents are not giving teachers co-operation. "Qualifications for school are greater than just being alive for a certain number of years. Teachers have to make up for the deficiencies of parents, make up for their distortions, then they can start on their own jobs."

He urged that educators should apply themselves to the parents through participation in PTA's, "although the worst type of parents won't attend."

GAMBLING WITH FUTURE
The speaker, who says his own son and a son-in-law have recently entered the teaching profession, warned that unless man gains the ability to adjust to changing conditions, he may die out. Man is gambling with future generations.

He added that unless the periodic explosion of H-bombs is discontinued, "a high proportion of survivors will be monsters."

The child who inherits his politics, religion and nationality and accepts them as limitations is victim of minor mental trouble that is general. "Boundaries, set up by accident, have decided our attitude about most things in the world."

FUTURE DISCOUNTED
Before a child is sent to school he should be taught to save for something he wants badly. But Dr. Chisholm regretted that in many homes the child is surrounded by appliances purchased on instalment plans that parents can't pay for. "To discount the future has become one of the standards of our type of culture."

The child should be parent-instructed in his family past, racial past, national past and a fragment about his geological and astronomical past. Dr. Chisholm stated.

He should know something of his community, trains, planes and cars, in order that he might be inspired to become interested in other places. What happens on the other side of the world, the lack of food, for instance, must be understood.

LOVE IS THE KEY
Of paramount importance, he said, is the need for unqualified love between mother and child. This produces sympathy and understanding for all the people of the world. "He will not follow demagogues who call other people names to whip up discontent."

He must be able to enjoy things without owning them. "If children are sent (to school) with these basic developments underway, the teacher's job would be easier."

"Inculcated prejudices in a child long before he ever comes to school," make a teacher's work impossible. "All of life should be a time for questioning everything," Dr. Chisholm maintained. He was amazed that "there actually are in this community, parents who consult astrology in their newspapers in front of their child. If magic rules, what chance has a teacher got?"

SCHOOL ORCHESTRA
The convention and guests were also treated to musical selections by Victoria High School Orchestra conducted by Miss Dorothy Hopgood. Highly applauded were solo presentations by pianist Joanne Dawson.

Victoria High principal, H. L. Smith introduced the chief speaker. Invocation was read by Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James. Welcoming remarks were made by the minister of education, Hon. R. G. Williston; school board representative, H. Goldby; Miss Hilda L. Cryderman, president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation; and Mrs. A. B. Thompson, vice-president of the Greater Victoria Parent-Teacher council.

NOBEL CHEMIST—Dr. Linus Pauling was named winner of 1954 Nobel Prize for chemistry. The 56-year-old California Institute of Technology scientist who has been accused by Senator Joseph McCarthy of being a "Communist front," won award for research into hidden force that glues together building blocks of matter.

Metropolitan Boys Dedicate Fully-Equipped Hobby Shop

An interested group of friends and parents attended the dedication Thursday evening of a fully-equipped wood-working shop at Metropolitan United Church.

Power tools, which include lathes, jig-saw, band saw, planer and drills, were provided by the boys themselves in a three-year drive, during which they raised money by doing odd jobs. The attractive shop in the basement of the church is brightly painted, fitted with benches and tool cupboards built by the boys themselves, and lighted with modern fluorescent fixtures.

The shop adjoins a meeting room where Tuxis and Trail Ranger groups meet for study and worship before adjourning to woodcraft or the gymnasium.

In a brief address of welcome and appreciation, boys' work leader Doug Robinson, paid tribute to the parents and friends of the boys who had assisted in bringing the project to fruition.

'YOU KEEP OUT OF THIS'

Semenick's Wife Says He's Afraid

VANCOUVER (CP)—"He's afraid," the wife of underworld shooting victim Bill (The Painter) Semenick said Thursday.

Mrs. Dorothy Semenick of Victoria visited her husband in the hospital room where he is recovering from a bullet wound received in Stanley Park early Wednesday.

"He wouldn't even discuss what happened to me," she said.

"I kept asking him questions about what had happened, and all he would say was, 'You keep out of this. You and the children keep right out of this. Take the next plane back to Victoria.'"

"But he's afraid; and I'm afraid too."

Mrs. Semenick said she was afraid for her children.

"That's why I had to go to Victoria. I had to get my children among good people who could help me to bring them up to be good."

Her concern was for her children, Douglas, 9, and Sandra, 4. The boy attends public school in Victoria. He is in Grade 4 and only recently recovered from a brain operation.

He was knocked off his bike last June when struck by a trailer truck.

"I have tried to keep it from the children. They never knew where he was, those years in the penitentiary."

Asked if she ever thought of using another name, she replied:

"Yes, lots of times."

"Did you?"

"No," she answered quietly.

She said her only reason for the separation from the man she felt had "gone straight" since their marriage was the fact that he wouldn't give up his acquaintances and come to Victoria.

"Everyone who knows him thinks he's wonderful. I just can't figure this out."

Cars and Tractors 22%, Food 24% of Our Budget

OTTAWA (BUP)—Residents between car expenses and food of Ontario and the Prairie provinces spent more on their cars and tractors than they did for food in 1951, the Bureau of Statistics said today, but in the other parts of the country food came first.

The bureau also published figures showing that the residents of the Atlantic provinces spent proportionately more than any other group of Canadians for food and drink.

A report on market data, prepared from 1951 census figures, was published by the bureau. It listed retail purchases by geographic areas, by types of products and by classified population groups.

Some $10,435,112,000 was spent in retail establishments during the year. On a nationwide basis food and kindred products accounted for 24 per cent of the total, automotive commodities took 22 per cent more than went for furniture, drygoods and notions, animal feeds or household supplies.

Prairie residents spent the most for their cars and the least for food.

By regions the relationship

	Food	Automotive
Ontario	22.2	22.8
Quebec	25.2	18.5
British Columbia	25.5	23.4
Atlantic provinces	27.8	19.9

Doctors Blame Ignorance of Mothers For Outbreak of Scurvy in Sudbury

SUDBURY, Ont. (BUP)—An outbreak of scurvy among babies in the Sudbury district was blamed today on their mothers' ignorance of proper feeding. Medical health officer Dr. J. B. Cook and Dr. Ford Dixon, a member of the board of health, said the board they had treated more than 15 cases of scurvy in children under two in the last two months. They said that in most of the cases the mothers could have afforded to buy vitamin-rich foods, but knew nothing of planned diets, vaccination or inoculation. "Some of these children appear to have been existing on milk and potatoes," Dr. Cook said.

PUPILS AGAIN . . . BUT JUST FOR DAY

Newest Wrinkles on Teaching Shown 1,200 Island Educators

Teachers from country schools, city schools and suburban schools gathered 1,200 strong at Victoria's S. J. Willis Junior High School to brush up on teaching methods.

Today, second day of three-day Vancouver Island Teachers' Convention, was devoted to in-session training. Teachers sat at the desks usually occupied by teen-agers and received instruction on how to best carry out the job of modern-day education.

Primary, intermediate and secondary teachers met separately since they encounter different problems in their work.

Today's program was arranged so that various subjects would be discussed during morning and afternoon sessions.

Saturday morning, ideas and suggestions with respect to curricula and teaching methods will be dealt with at a general meeting of the teachers. Resolutions approved there will be forwarded to the B.C. Teachers' Federation for action.

DESKS BUILT FOR TEEN AGERS

There was a bit of a squeeze for some of the 1,200 teachers who had the tables turned on them at today's sectional meetings of Vancouver Island Teachers' Convention. Teachers took over S. J. Willis Junior High School for the day and set about learning about latest teaching methods. Group of intermediate grade teachers above were given instruction on how to make best use of educational films. Instructor is Dennis Brown, audio-visual supervisor of Greater Victoria School Board. Convention concludes Saturday after Teachers' Federation meetings.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Welcome to Victoria, teachers of British Columbia. I have always admired the courage of anyone who enters your hazardous profession.

Things were pretty tough for teacher, even in my school days, when it was permissible to wallop the more recalcitrant or prankish pupils with a strap or perhaps a ruler across the knuckles.

But in this enlightened age, when applied psychology is about the only weapon teacher has left, I admire teacher's courage even more.

So, welcome to Victoria. May the spit balls be few and the honor students many.

Dr. Brock Chisholm is reported as having told the teachers one of their big jobs is to educate the parents.

I imagine the problem would be to get parents to sit still long enough to be educated.

Most of them believe being parents is an education in itself.

A certain amount of distress has been caused in these parts because of a letter from an Eastern manufacturer addressed to "The Village Board, Victoria, B.C."

However, it is easy to understand how the mistake occurred.

It is likely the man who wrote the letter once attended one of the more incoherent meetings of council.

It is a little late to be discussing summer vacations, but nevertheless I'm indebted to Wally Cameron, the eminent Gyro, for the following—which may amuse you as much as it amused me.

S. G. Ogilvie, chief of accommodations for the federal customs department, Ottawa, was in the city this week conferring with Henry Whittaker and Donald Wagg, city architects, on plans for the reconstruction of the old post office building at Government and Humboldt.

The stone building is to be completely rebuilt on the Government Street front for occupation by the customs and excise departments under Collector Gerald Yardley.

Willard Ireland, provincial architect, will address the semi-annual meeting of Victoria Building Industries Exchange in Pacific Club, Monday at 6:30 p.m. Subject of his talk will be the historical aspect of building on Vancouver Island.

Thirty assorted shrubs were stolen overnight from Beacon Hill Park, it was reported by police today. The shrubs were valued at about $60.

DROODLES

This doodle is from a photograph Dr. Schweine made of a saucer which landed in his backyard last week. Four little, green rapscallions from Mars rushed into his house, made him get a Charlie Chan picture on TV and began asking suspicious questions such as: "What is an atom bomb?" "How big is your army?" and "Where do we go to vote for Miss Rheingold?" Well, Dr. Schweine got nervous and figured they were trying to kidnap the President (they had a map of every golf course in the U.S.) and ordered them off his property—but not before he took the snap shots of the sign above. In addition to "No Smoking" it also says "Stand to the Rear of the Saucer" and "No Telepathy With Driver While Saucer is in Motion!" (The flashy part at the bottom is an advertisement for a motel on Mercury).

Turning out to avoid striking a bus which was pulling out from the curb ahead of her, Bernice M. Harvey, 3914 Ascot, was in head-on collision with another car doing $300 damage. In Saanich police court Thursday she was fined $35 or five days for careless driving and her license was suspended.

Cuts, bruises and shock were sustained by Clarence Stevens, 1481 Hillside, Thursday night after a collision with two parked cars on Fernwood. Mrs. Susan Hartley, 63 escaped with a bruised shoulder when she was struck by a truck at Douglas and Broughton earlier. Police said the driver was Raymond Slater, 2858 Rose.

Driving at a speed greater than 15 miles per hour while crossing Johnson Street bridge cost Douglas William Richards, Sooke, $15 in city police court today. William Horseland, 4001 Quadra, paid $10 for driving with inadequate mufflers.

Police found beer and whisky in a car driven by 19-year-old Robert A. Hoy, 2668 Cedar Hill Road, the whisky opened and on the front seat. He was fined $20 in police court today for being in possession of liquor while a minor.

"My foot slipped off the brake and landed on the gas," said Henry Stevens, 2733 Shelbourne, in explaining a three-car collision to Magistrate H. C. Hall today. He said his car smashed into one ahead and drove it into a third car, causing damage estimated at $500. He was fined $35 for careless driving and his license was suspended.

Fine Imposed On Man Freed Two Months Ago

Lee Fook, who escaped a term of imprisonment for unlawfully selling liquor in Victoria was fined $300 by Judge J. B. Clearhue in County Court today.

The accused for over two months was in the position of being a convicted man but who has received no punishment due to a mistake made by Magistrate A. L. Thomas when he first appeared in police court on Aug. 24.

The magistrate sentenced the accused to six months imprisonment. This proved to be improper. The magistrate only had the authority to sentence Fook to a fine and in default a term of imprisonment.

Fook immediately applied to the Supreme Court for a writ of Habeas Corpus, requesting that he be released from prison on the grounds that he was improperly sentenced. He won his point and was freed.

In the present case, Alan Bigelow, city prosecutor, appealed to Judge Clearhue to correct the sentence imposed by Magistrate Thomas. The lawyer pointed out it was unfair for a man to get off "Scot free" for an offense to which he had pleaded guilty.

'MAGGIE' BACK SATURDAY, 3-HOUR OPEN HOUSE SUNDAY

The aircraft carrier HMCS Magnificent will dock at jetty 52, HMCS Naden, when she returns to Victoria 8:30 a.m. Saturday after a five-day visit to Vancouver.

The carrier will be open to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday. Parking space will be available on the Naden parade ground, the lower half of the playing field, and a lot behind the new gymnasium.

Navy Strength Here Hits Peace-Time High

Three navy ships slipped quietly into their berths at Esquimalt harbor this morning to bring the strength of the RCN Pacific Fleet to a new peace-time high.

The frigate, HMCS Jonquiere, and the Bangor class minesweepers, HMCS Digby and Brockville, docked at 10 a.m., in driving rain, after completing voyage from Halifax through the Panama Canal.

Jonquiere, a modernized frigate of the same class as Stettler and New Glasgow, will be attached to the active training fleet.

The two sweepers will serve to train reserves here and at Prince Rupert.

Commanding officers of the new arrivals are Lieut. Cmdr. Hal R. Tilley, Jonquiere; Lieut. Cmdr. P. F. H. Pinfold, Digby, and R. D. Hayes, Brockville. The new-ships join a growing fleet based at Esquimalt, which

Highway Pubs Not Affected By Plebiscite

'Guidance' Vote To Be Conducted

By TOM GOULD

Beer parlors on the Island Highway will not be affected by a liquor plebiscite to be called in Esquimalt electoral district by the government.

Officials say existing beer parlors will remain in operation whether residents of the district vote for or against them.

In effect, the ballot will represent only an "expression of opinion" on the four new types of outlets permitted under B.C.'s revised Liquor Act.

The same situation will prevail throughout B.C.'s unorganized territories, where 100,000 persons will cast ballots in the near future on liquor.

Officials said the vote will be only for "guidance" in issuing licenses, but that it will not bind the governments-to-issue, or withhold any particular type of license.

NOTED

Although the issue has never been put to a test, it has been taken for granted in the cities, villages and municipalities which already have voted on the liquor act that rejection of the voters of "public house" outlets would mean closure of existing beer parlors.

Officials said that clearly is the intent of the act.

Reason the unorganized territory vote will not be binding is that it is being taken under the old "Liquor Control Plebiscites Act" and not under the new Liquor Act.

ELECTORAL DISTRICT

Each licensing area in unorganized territory will consist of an electoral district, omitting areas previously designated. In Esquimalt electoral district, Colwood, Sooke, Jordan River, Port Renfrew and Metchosin residents will vote. Residents of Esquimalt municipality, who already have accepted terms of the new Liquor Act, will not.

The Six-Mile House, Colwood Inn, Goldstream Hotel, 17-Mile House, Sooke Hotel, and other beer parlors in the area will not be affected.

New Commander for Cayuga on January 1

Cmdr. G. H. Davidson, present executive officer of HMCS Naden, has been appointed commanding officer of HMCS Cayuga.

He will assume his new command Jan. 1. Cayuga is completing a tour of duty in Korea.

Wrong-Way Walker Blamed In Bicycle Crash

Pedestrian Harold Jeffrey, 1751 Cedar Hill Cross Road, was walking north on Richmond Road when a cyclist collided with him last month.

Thursday Jeffrey was summoned to court and fined $5 by Magistrate H. C. Hall for walking on the wrong side of the road.

Falling to walk on the left when walking on a highway where no sidewalk is provided, contrary to the Highway Act, Jeffrey contributed to the cause of the accident, police said.

Cyclist Alfred Williams, 18, was seriously injured in the accident Oct. 19 and was just recently discharged from hospital.

Afire Off Island

COMOX, B.C. (BUP)—The 74-foot seiner Veta C, owned by Capt. Charles H. Clarke of North Vancouver, was reported on fire in the Strait of Georgia today following an explosion.

The crew of eight escaped from the blazing vessel.

A tug was on its way from Vancouver to the stricken vessel.

Addition Makes Room For Grade 7 Pupils

A four-room addition to schools (Central, S. J. Willis, Oak Bay and Lansdowne). The new program calls for a fifth junior high to be built at Burnside-Tillamook and to be known as Colquitz School.

The new program also calls for a two-room addition to Mount View High School and a major addition to the F. T. Fairley Vocational-Technical Unit.

At Esquimalt it is planned to provide three regulation classrooms and one for home economics at a cost of $50,000. The two-room addition to Mount View will cost $54,700 since these will be multi-purpose classrooms suited for general science, biology, chemistry and physics. The extra cost results because sinks and non-corrosive benches will be required as fixtures.

$208,000 for Technical School

The planned addition to the Fairley technical school will cost in the neighborhood of $208,000 and in this instance five-eighths of the cost will be paid by the federal government with the remainder being shared half-and-half by ratepayers and the provincial government.

Esquimalt High School was enlarged and modernized under the last school building program. The extra rooms required are to permit the school to accommodate grades seven to 12. Grade eights are already established in the school. They were moved there in September because it was essential that extra space be made available for pupils in lower grades at Lamson Street School.

Mount View High Overcrowded

The two-room addition to Mount View High School is slated to meet the present need of the school only. School officials say the outlook for the future is "one of concern."

At present, only one laboratory is available for teaching science subjects and these lack cupboard and storage space. A one-room annex is in use there and a lunchroom is used as a classroom as well.

Though grade nine pupils will be drawn off this school by the proposed Colquitz Junior High

Conciliation Ordered In Shipyard Wrangle

20 Unions Involved in Pay Disputes With Major B.C. Steel-Ship Builders

A conciliation officer and board have been authorized to take a hand in disputes between 20 Victoria and Vancouver AFL and CIO unions seeking contract improvements with B.C. steel shipyards.

Victoria Machinery Depot and Yarrow's Ltd. of Victoria and Burrard & Pacific Drydock Company of Vancouver are the firms involved.

A conciliation board is to be set up to handle the 1954 contract disputes between the Joint Shipyard's Council and the shipyards. A conciliation officer will take a hand in the dispute between the Metal Trades' Council and the same yards.

Thirteen AFL unions comprise the Metal Trades' Council. They include painters, operating engineers, carpenters and joiners, plumbers and pipefitters, boiler-makers, sheet metal workers and shipyard riggers of Victoria. The Joint Council is composed of machinists and shipwrights (both CCL and electricians (AFL) in Victoria and Vancouver boiler-makers union.

The joint council is seeking: a 10 per cent, across the board wage increase; a 20 per cent differential to charge hands over journeymen; double time for overtime; a greater employer contribution to a health plan; 5 per cent of gross earnings for annual holiday pay, and other changes.

The Metal Trades' Council is seeking a 22-cent hourly boost on basic pay rates from Oct. 15, 1954; 6 per cent of earnings for holiday pay; premium rate of time and one-quarter for handling fibre-glass insulation; 10-minute break in the first and second half of each shift; hot meal at end of each regular shift if required to work overtime; all work performed before or after regular shift shall be overtime with second and third shifts to be paid minimum of 16 hours' pay when working Saturdays, Sundays and holidays upon completion of shift, and employees who work nine days within continuous 10-day period in which a statutory falls, to receive a day's pay for holiday.

Stuart John McCullough, 1019 Bank, and Kenneth Eric Smith, 82 Obed, each were fined in Saanich police court Thursday for speeding. McCullough paid $25, Smith $30.

DOUBLE DUTY PLANNED FOR TOURIST BIRDS

Bird perches throughout Greater Victoria soon may aid tourists in locating points of historical or scenic interest.

Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group plans to install attractive metal marker poles, surmounted by three typical birds, borrowed from the Chamber's slogan: "Follow the Birds to Victoria."

Poles would bear a metal plate describing the location, and aiding tourists to get the most of their visit.

Project will be considered by the full tourist trade group before action is taken.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Will you please tell me what date civilization commenced? This question was asked of me by my grandson and I was unable to answer it. W.B.R.

A. It is assumed the question concerns our present civilization, the Western civilization. Civilizations as known to history, did not spring into being, full-blown, at an identifiable date. They followed after earlier civilizations, each drawing on preceding ages for some of their stores. So many fibres came into what we in this age call our civilization that it is impossible to trace them all clearly. If this column knew of any contemporary historian with courage enough to set a date as asked, it would be a pleasure to name him, but the column has no knowledge of such a man.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Chamber Studies Garden Council Proposal

Recommendation that all agricultural, horticultural and garden societies of Greater Victoria combine under Chamber of Commerce sponsorship to form a horticultural council, will be made to the Chamber tourist trade group at its next meeting.

The plan, suggested by Len Arnall, past-president of Victoria Horticultural Society, was evolved at a meeting of tourist trade group executive Thursday. Mr. Arnall was careful to point out that there would be no supreme authority but merely Chamber of Commerce guidance.

"Each group would definitely maintain its separate identity," he said.

"I believe it would be one of the finest things for Victoria," Mr. Arnall said today.

Major purpose of such a council would be to co-ordinate all the small societies numbering about 20 in Victoria and neighboring municipalities. It would assist them with publicizing their annual shows and to further develop Victoria as a garden city.

It would also avoid the difficulty of conflicting dates for horticultural exhibitions, as has happened.

If developed fully, the plan could approach a similar system employed in the U.S., where such groups are organized on a local, county, state and national scale.

A less extensive scheme on comparative lines was tried five years ago, said Mr. Arnall, and a very successful combined flower show resulted.

Groups interested in the plan may contact the Chamber of Commerce soon for particulars. Executive members agreed to hold Holly Day in Victoria Dec. 11, two weeks before Christmas.

Tentative discussion on a "Daffodil Drop" as performed under chamber sponsorship last spring indicated that a similar program of sending local flowers to prairie cities next spring would be carried out.

Try Roasting Chestnuts Around an Open Fireplace

By PENNY SAVER

If falling leaves and chilly winds bring visions of an open fire and roasting chestnuts... why not do something about it? Make the vision a reality. One of the easiest ways to entertain is to invite a group of friends over for a casual fireside get-together and chestnuts will make that evening twice as enjoyable. Can't you just taste those piping hot chestnuts, sprinkled with salt and steaming with melted butter? (For those calorie conscious readers, they're still good minus the butter.) Price for a pound of chestnuts for roasting is 35 cents.

Now on to more necessary foods to stock the larder for next week. For a change of fare, how about serving some sweet, white turnip. They're not hard to spot, although not all stores are selling them. A very pure white they are, and oblong in shape. Price is only 10 cents a pound.

Brussels sprouts are about the most practical vegetable to serve right now. There are three kinds to choose from: large, firm and very green ones are generally 25 cents a pound; smaller sprouts are 19 cents a pound and sprout tops are two pounds for 25 cents.

Another practical dish is parsnips, selling at 10 cents a pound. That terrific health food, spinach, is 25 cents for two pounds and broccoli is 23 cents a pound.

Only five pennies will buy you a pound of broad beans, whereas green string beans are 30 cents a pound. You'll pay 15 cents for two cobs of corn and 20 cents a pound for sweet potatoes.

Bunches of leeks look so very fresh and green that they caught my eye. Price is 25 cents for two good-size bunches. Firm field cucumbers are price at 10 cents a piece.

As for fruits, I discovered that tangerines have dropped three pennies from last week's price, to sell now at 45 cents a dozen. Smaller Florida Satsuma oranges are 35 cents a dozen. Large and unusually juicy looking are Flemish Beauty pears. You can buy five of them for a quarter. Anjou pears are the same price, but for three pounds.

AS WE LIVE

Married in Haste, Girl Dreads Meeting In-Laws

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When the past cannot be undone, the best thing to do is to forget it. A young woman writes:

(Q)—"Nearly three years ago I met and fell in love with a very fine young man. I have always looked down on girls who got married because they had to. Well, this happened to me, and to this day I hardly believe it. My mother-in-law and father-in-law were out of town at the time of my marriage, and I have never met them. They have been gone the two years of my marriage, and I do not know when the time will come that I will have to face them. They, of course, know the reason for our marriage in such a hurry. My sister-in-law is one of the most wonderful girls in the world and she has been swell to me. She adores the baby. Should I apologize to my mother-in-law for this wrong doing? Or should I just let it be a thing of the past? I have such a feeling of guilt on my mind that it is making me a nervous wreck."

(A)—Under no conditions should you apologize to your mother-in-law for your "wrong doing." Nor could you forget it, even if you tried. But it is now a part of your past, which you regret but cannot change.

Your husband was just as much to blame for your hasty marriage as you were. I am sure his parents realize this. When the time comes for you to meet your parents-in-law, you want your relationship with them to be as friendly as possible. Starting out with an apology would certainly not achieve this end.

Only if they should bring up the subject, which I doubt very much if they will, should you attempt to explain what happened or say you deeply regret it. It would be far better to allow this to go unmentioned.

Instead, you should concentrate on making your marriage as happy as possible so they will not regret that their son had to marry you. In addition, try to build up a friendly relationship with them in their absence by letters telling all about the baby. Your sister-in-law has already accepted you. The chances are that your parents-in-law will do the same.

TODAY'S RECIPE

POCKET BISCUITS

One-half cup All-Bran, ½ cup milk, 1 cup sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening, ½ cup orange marmalade.

Combine All-Bran and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Add All-Bran mixture and stir until combined. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently a few times. Roll dough out to ¼ inch in thickness. Cut into ovals 2 inches long and 1 inch wide. Cut a slit in one end of oval. Put a teaspoonful of marmalade in middle of each oval; bring uncut end of dough through slit. Place on greased baking sheet. Bake in very hot oven (450 deg. F.) about 10 minutes. Yield: about 1½ dozen biscuits.

Princess Sees Dior Fashions

WOODSTOCK, Eng. (Reuters)—Princess Margaret watched with lively interest and appreciation as 12 French mannequins showed Christian Dior's winter fashion collection Wednesday at Blenheim Palace, seat of the Dukes of Marlborough since 1704.

The Princess, wearing a full-skirted black velvet dress with low-cut bodice and matching black-velvet hat, arrived at the palace in a full-length mink coat. She exchanged that for a mink shoulder cape before walking through eight thronged drawing rooms to the long library.

The occasion was a charity show organized by the Duchess of Marlborough in aid of the British Red Cross.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Hair Rinse to Match Color Can Be Found

Q—"Please tell me something about rinses. I have brown hair with quite a bit of grey in it. However, my hair would not be classified as grey. When I use a rinse the grey hairs look red or at least pink. My hair is brown and I buy a brown rinse but it turns the grey hairs reddish. What can I do? Is there no solution to this problem? Do I have to dye my hair rather than use a rinse which washes out? I just want to cover a few grey hairs or blend them in with the brown ones."

A—There are several splendid rinses which do just what you wish. However, you should buy several shades and experiment with the mixture. Evidently the one you are using has too much henna in it. For instance, there is a combination of dark brown, medium brown and henna, which would be wonderful for you.

There is a great variety in rinses. Some are effective, some are not. Some are good for one head of hair while others work best on another. The nice thing is that vegetable rinses wash out with a shampoo, so that you can afford to experiment. Do not buy one shade, but several, and try mixing them. In your case use less henna and more dark brown. Remember that just a drop makes a difference.

Q—"I am 17 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall and weigh 122 pounds. Am I overweight? My bust measures 32 inches, waist 25 inches and hips 36½ inches. Please tell me what to do."

A—You are not overweight. You should take hip-reducing exercises and bust-building exercises. Probably nature will take care of this because the age of ultimate bust development varies in individuals. If your bustline builds up a couple of inches you will be in proportion.

Q—"I am 17 years old and a junior in high school. Most all the girls in my class have pretty hands but mine aren't because they have warts on them. I want to get rid of them but do not know how to do it. I hear all kinds of talk about how to get rid of them, but most of the remedies sound superstitious to me. What can I do?"

A—You are very wise to discard these home remedies. Go to see a skin specialist. It will be very simple for him to remove these warts. You should never tamper with them yourself.

Q—"I have had brown spots on my face ever since my first child was born. That was eight years ago. I have tried all kinds of bleaching creams but they have done no good. Do you know of anything?"

A—Sorry, but I do not know anything which will be helpful. The pigmentation of the skin seems yet to be an unknown quantity. However, I would suggest that you see a dermatologist. They are always finding out about new treatments. In the meantime you can hide these spots with make-up.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Armistice Day Dinner

GANGES — Plans for the Armistice Day parade and dinner business discussed at the Monday meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Legion held in the Legion Hall, Ganges. Mrs. A. Wolfe-Milner, vice-president, announced that members would gather at 10:30 a.m. outside the drugstore for the Armistice Day parade, and Mrs. A. Francis, convener, spoke of plans for the dinner. Poppies were distributed to various members for the collection on Salt Spring Island by Mrs. Gerald Bullock, who asked that poppies and money be returned to Turner's Store by Nov. 9. A total of $145.14 from Ganges, Vesuvius Bay and Fulford was reported collected for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind by organizations on the Island. Mrs. J. F. de Mecedo told the meeting. Treasurer, Mrs. D. Winter-

'Goodwill' the Toastmistress Meeting Theme

The theme, "Goodwill Toward Men," was used at meeting of Victoria Toastmistress Club, in the dining room of Strathcona Hotel, on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Irene Warren presided. Mrs. H. Mickelson was topic mistress, her table topic being "A Shot in the Arm." Mrs. R. R. Grant was installed by Mrs. Warren and Miss B. Heim. Toastmistress was Miss G. Mitchell; timer, Mrs. W. Dunnet; lexicologist, Miss P. L'Amie; critics, Miss M. Johnson and Miss M. Cottingham; evaluator, Mrs. A. T. Thompson; and the speakers, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. L. Holdridge, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. K. Roberts and Miss Rita Rodgers. Impromptu talks were given by Miss Heim, Miss Helen Egan, Mrs. G. J. Johnson, Miss A. Harness and Miss G. McKay. Mrs. R. H. Rose gave the vote of thanks and Mrs. J. Carter, the blessing. Miss Harness was awarded the Oscar for the best speech of the evening, her subject, "Brightly Burns the Candle," and Miss Heim, the Spur for the speech showing the most improvement. Her subject was "London."

Take Leading Parts in Alumnae Bazaar

Mrs. George Masters, right, will officially open the annual fall bazaar sponsored by the Alumnae Association of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, next Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m. in the Nurses Residence. Mrs. Eve Hayman, president of the alumnae, will receive guests. There will be stalls of home cooking, candy, novelties and infants' and children's wear. Afternoon tea will be served. Proceeds will be used to provide bursaries and casual financial aid to nursing students of the hospital.

Sally Braun, E. J. Cannon Exchange Wedding Promises

Miss Sally Braun, daughter of Mrs. T. Braun, Humboldt, Sask., and the late Mr. Braun, exchanged vows with Edward John Cannon, son of Mrs. W. C. Cannon, Nanaimo, B.C., and the late Mr. Cannon, last evening in a quiet ceremony at Bishop's House, St. Andrew's Cathedral. Father Lehane officiated.

For the ceremony the bride chose a corded dress of white white styled on Doir lines with matching hat and brown accessories. Gold roses formed her corsage.

Miss Sylvia Voelk was the only attendant to the bride, wearing a cocoa brown dress with green accessories and corsage of carnations. Jim Floyd was best man.

Food Stall on Salt Spring Island

GANGES—Over $170 was realized by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Volunteer Fire Brigade of Salt Spring Island at a stall held at Mount Bros' General Store, Ganges, recently. This community effort was under the general convener of Mrs. D. Wellwood, and the stall featured home cooking with garden produce, flowers, knitted wear and a variety of other items for sale. Proceeds will be used to buy helmets and other equipment for the volunteer firemen.

Nursing Sisters Mark Armistice Day

Victoria Flowers Form Setting At Ceremony in Prince George

A profusion of yellow roses and chrysanthemums from the Victoria garden of the groom's parents decorated Knox United Church, Prince George, for the ceremony in which Alan Stephen Nevison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nevison, 3033 Colquitz Avenue, took as his bride Marjorie Ann McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McDonald, Prince George.

Rev. Gordon McLaren conducted the ceremony and Miss Jean Rustad sang "O Perfect Love" during signing of the register. Organist was Mrs. Alex Moonie.

The petite red-haired bride wore a crinolined gown of filmy lace and tulle, posed over satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a Bertha collar of lace and her fingertip veil misted from a pearl tiara. She carried a white Bible topped with red roses and Stephanotis. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

The bride's attendant was her sister, Miss Sheila McDonald, who wore a bouffant, ballerina-length gown of embroidered net in sky blue shade. Her colonial bouquet was of yellow roses and white carnations.

Keith Armstrong acted as best man and ushers were Bud Olson and Donald Brown.

Home of the bride's parents was decorated with pink and white streamers, wedding bells and chrysanthemums for the reception. A three-tier wedding cake topped by a tiny basket of flowers centred the lace-covered bride's table. William Webster proposed when games of chance were to be played, her advance students will dance. Afternoon tea will be served. Door prizes will include a weekend in Seattle for two, transportation and expenses prepaid, a beautiful doll complete with wardrobe and a Christmas dinner hamper.

For a honeymoon in the Ok-nagan and Vancouver, the bride chose a traveling suit of grey flannel with black accessories and red roses, en corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Nevison will live at 588 Alward Street, Prince George.

Special guests at the wedding were the groom's parents, his sister, Miss Ann Nevison; Mr. Jack Doddridge, all of Victoria, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Downson, Vancouver, who were attendants at the wedding of the groom's parents.

To Mark Nurse's Departure for Crimean War

Plans were completed at meeting of Florence Nightingale Chapter, IOOE, for a tea and bazaar to be held on Dec. 1, at the Nurses' Residence, Royal Jubilee Hospital, Richmond Road, to commemorate the centenary of Florence Nightingale's departure for the Crimean War. Mrs. W. J. Robinson and Mrs. K. Mills are convening the tea and bazaar. Florence Nightingale left England for the Crimean theatre of war on Oct. 21, 1854, with a staff of 38 nurses under her. Donations were made to the TB Pavilion, Royal Jubilee Hospital and the adopted schools. Mrs. J. L. Gates reported on the semi-annual meeting of Provincial Chapter, held at Chilliwack.

Germany Regains West's Friendship

Metamorphosis in Political Relations Cited In Consul's German-Canadian Club Speech

Change in the Anglo-German political picture since 1954 was termed "fantastic" by Kurt H. Brunhoff, consul of the federal republic of Germany, addressing the German-Canadian Club here Thursday night.

He cited Columbia University's conferring of honorary degrees on Queen Mother Elizabeth and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Monday.

"Can you imagine this happening three years ago?" he asked.

"If we German-Canadians look at Germany today we can be grateful for our present situation," the consul for Alberta and B.C. said. "But at the same time

St. Luke's To Dedicate Memorials

At St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill Crossroad, matins Sunday at 11 a.m. will be marked by the dedication of the new lanterns in the nave, and all the gift pews.

The service will follow by two weeks the celebration of the 40th anniversary of the founding of St. Luke's parish, marked by the dedication by Archbishop Sexton of the new wrought iron chancel lanterns. These are a memorial to Col. W. H. Dobbie, DSO.

At evening that day the preacher was Rev. N. J. Godkin, rector of St. Michael's, Royal Oak, which is the oldest daughter of St. Luke's parish.

Gifts Mentioned

"Through the years our church has been made beautiful with many memorial gifts," Canon F. Pike, rector of St. Luke's, wrote in the parish leaflet. "Among them is a brass lectern which was given as a memorial to the Hon. John Wark and his wife, Suzette Legece. The beautiful stone font is another gift, and the cross and candlesticks in the Lady Chapel are memorials to Bishop and Mrs. Scriven."

The carved oak pulpit is a memorial to Rev. Herbert Scarrett, former headmaster of the University School here. It was carved by A. U. B. Robson of Vancouver.

The reredos, one of the outstanding architectural features of St. Luke's, formerly stood in Hereford Cathedral. It was carved by Peter Rendell.

While touring England's cathedrals, Mr. Robson visited Hereford.

"There, in one of the transepts," Canon Pike writes, "he came across a work of art in the form of a reredos that had been taken out of the Lady Chapel. He at once began to make inquiries about it and eventually acquired it for St. Luke's."

Six Services Planned to Mark Remembrance Day in Victoria

Six services to pay tribute to Canada's war dead will feature observance of Remembrance Day in Victoria and district next week.

Services will bring together veterans who have participated in four wars dating back to the start of the century—the Boer War, First and Second World Wars and the Korean War.

Two of the services to mark Remembrance Day will be held next Wednesday, main services to honor the men who paid the supreme sacrifice in wars on the following day—Nov. 11.

TO UNVEIL PLAQUE

At Victoria High School at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday a new plaque in honor of that school's former pupils killed in the Second World War will be unveiled by Education Minister Ray Williston following a service in the auditorium. Dr. F. T. Fahey, MP, will deliver the main address in the auditorium.

At 4:55 the same afternoon a special service will be held in the rotunda of the Parliament Buildings honoring civil servants who donned uniforms and were killed in the wars.

At this ceremony there will be dedicated a new book of remembrance containing the names of civil servants who were killed in the Second World War. Education Minister Williston will place the wreath on the war memorial plaque. Service will be conducted by Rev. N. J. Godkin, rector of St. Michael's and All Angels Church, Saanich, and former RCAF chaplain.

CENOTAPH SERVICE

Premier remembrance service will take place Nov. 11 at the Cenotaph on the lawn of the Legislative Buildings.

Members of the Canadian Legion branches, active and militia army forces, the RCN, RCAF, RCMP, Sea-Cadets and Boy Scouts will participate in the service.

War veterans will lead the parade to the Cenotaph from the old post office building at 10:30 a.m. This parade will include the naval band, navy and army and other marching units.

The two-minute silence at 11 a.m. will be signaled by the firing of 25-pounders by the 4th LAA Battery, RCA, of the Regular Army stationed at Work Point Barracks.

Rev. F. E. M. Tomalin, a former RCAF padre, will officiate at the ceremony. Wreaths will be laid by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace for the people of British Columbia and representatives of other organizations.

The governor will take the salute in the march-past following the ceremony at a dias in front of the Empress Hotel.

SCOTTISH SERVICE

Following this service, the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) will break off to hold a special service in honor of their war dead at their memorial in Pioneer Square, next to Christ Church Cathedral.

While the Legislative Buildings program is going on a similar remembrance program will be held in Esquimalt. All

124 BRITISH CS PURGED IN SIX-YEAR PERIOD

LONDON (UP)—Britain has purged 124 civil servants from government posts for security reasons in the last six years, the government disclosed today.

Henry Brooke, financial secretary to the treasury, gave the figure in reply to a question in the House of Commons. He called the number "small."

"I think the whole House is satisfied that this unpleasant and delicate procedure has been and is being applied with the greatest care," Brooke said.

PRESTONE BRAND
ANTI-FREEZE

Without the complete protection of "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze, you may suffer the expense of serious cooling system damage this winter or even next summer after the anti-freeze has been drained and replaced with water and rust inhibitor.

Remember—a 'substitute' anti-freeze just might get you through the winter without cooling system freeze-up. But freeze-up is less than half the hazard of winter engine operation. Many cases of summer engine over-heating problems are caused by inferior anti-freeze protection during the previous winter.

"Prestone" Anti-freeze protects the cooling system against freeze-up, rust, corrosion, acid contamination, clogging, seepage, deterioration of metal and rubber parts. That's complete protection!

It always pays to insist on "Prestone" Anti-Freeze. Don't accept 'substitutes'—not if you're looking for guaranteed, complete protection, the kind that only "Prestone" Anti-Freeze can give.

WARNING!

You may be told that other brands are 'just the same as' "Prestone" Anti-Freeze. It isn't so! Insist on "Prestone" Brand and you can get it—anywhere!

New Plane That Takes Off, Lands Vertically Tested

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP)—The U.S. Navy unwrapped publicly for the first time today the forerunner of a radical new breed of warplane—a high-speed fighter which needs no runway for take-off or landing.

The turbine-powered XFV-1 "Pogo"—world's first vertical take-off (VTO) airplane—was put through unbelievable gyrations by test pilot J. F. (Skeets) Coleman at nearby Brown Naval Air Station.

Built by Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp., the Pogo can scoot through the air in horizontal flight at 500 miles an hour, its light 15,000-pound weight pulled along by a 5,850 horsepower Allison-built engine. The turbine's power is harnessed to propellers but the navy and air force already are looking to jet VTO's with super-sonic speed.

NEW ERA IN ART HERE

Victorians Scramble to Buy Examples of Modern Painting

BY AB KENT

Staid, immovable, old Victoria is no more.

The trend toward modern abstract painting has been taken up here with as much if not more enthusiasm than in the culture centres of North America.

As many as three individual parties have contested buying privileges of certain modern masterworks of Jack Shadbolt, whose work is being shown until November 13 at the Arts Centre.

Half the paintings have been sold out and according to curator Colin Graham, "people are breaking their necks to get them."

CONTRAST TO CARR

It shows up as a remarkable contrast to the reception given work by the late Emily Carr, also a local painter in the "modern manner."

Shadbolt, one of the most abstract of painters in Canada is gaining an international reputation, having shown work in Vancouver, Toronto, Seattle and San Francisco. In Seattle particularly, Shadbolt paintings are popular. The curator of the art gallery there has two paintings in his own home, one of them a Shadbolt—displayed in the place of honor.

Mr. Graham, who is also a Times art columnist, says: "I am pleased that Victoria is finally getting in step and keeping pace with modern art."

Private citizens have bought

14 paintings from the 30-piece showing, and one has been purchased by the Arts Centre, all sales having taken place before the exhibition was half over.

A prolific painter, Shadbolt completed most of the paintings on show now during the past three or four months.

They are largely landscape and bird paintings done in a style which varies from the near-realistic to the near-non-representational, where recognition of objects and scenes is obscured by the depiction of general feeling.

"The flavor of the west coast gets into the pictures," says Mr. Graham, even though "he is not a doctrinaire painter."

Shadbolt is 43, and presently teaches at the Vancouver Art School. He studied in London, Paris and New York after leaving Victoria and was an official war artist during the Second World War.

Death of Brian A. Block, 19, seaman of HMCS Ontario, who fell into Government Graving Dock, Esquimalt, Saturday evening, was suicide, according to a coroner's inquiry.

The finding was made public by Coroner E. C. Hart.

Beaverbrook Gives Fredericton $400,000 Rink, Centre as Gift

FREDERICTON (CP)—The City of Fredericton accepted as a gift from Lord Beaverbrook a rink and recreation centre worth about $400,000.

The building will be named "Lady Beaverbrook Rink" and is expected to be ready for use by next November.

Lady Beaverbrook rink is designed to seat 1,600 persons when the rink surface is in use, and about 2,300 when the building is used as an auditorium.

Saanich Faces Prospect of Work Layoff As Funds Lacking to Complete Program

Faced with the lack of funds to complete this year's public works program, Saanich council may be forced to lay off a number of its municipal employees within the next few months, it was learned today.

Mr. George Austin, chairman of the public works committee, disclosed there is only $26,000 left in this year's budget to work with until the 1955 estimates are approved by council. "We haven't got sufficient money to complete this year's works program," he said. "We may have to lay off some men until the new budget is approved."

Mr. Austin said part of the 1954 public works budget was cut by council to make up for an increase in school taxes. This was one of the main reasons why the fund for municipal works was so low and prevented the completion of certain projects, he added.

As to laying off of employees, Mr. Austin said he was working on a scheme which might provide the men with sufficient work until next year.

He hoped, he said, to place some of the work crews on local improvement projects which are not paid from the public works budget. The money in these cases is raised through separate money by-laws.

Troubles of Ireland Outlined for Rotary

The religious, political and economic problems of north and south Ireland were outlined at a meeting Thursday of the Victoria Rotary Club.

Speaking in a pleasant brogue to the regular weekly luncheon of the group, Rev. Frank Johnson, assistant at First United Church, told members that Ireland as a whole, suffered from two completely opposite attitudes.

"In Northern Ireland," he said, "people are ninety per cent Protestant. In Eire, they are ninety per cent Roman Catholic."

"The northern parts are pro-English, the southern are anti-English."

"And the great problem today, is England's treatment of Southern Ireland, mainly with regard to trade."

"People in the south, he said in a speech that kept Rotarians chuckling throughout, suffer from the fact that their exports to England (about 90 per cent of all Eire's export trade goes to sterling areas) command much lower prices than the same goods, produced under similar conditions, from Northern Ireland."

NO OFFICIAL HELP

"On the other hand, the people, or rather, the government in Southern Ireland, does little to help matters."

"Schools in Southern Ireland are just one example," he said.

"Most schools are church schools, run either by Protestant or Catholic ministers."

"Within the past few years, a ruling from the education board has stated that all school-children be taught only Gaelic during their first two years at school, providing the teacher can speak Irish."

"That sort of thing is not right. It has driven a lot of people out of Eire. It's one of the reasons I left."

"Northern and Southern Ireland export dairy products to Britain. Northern Ireland also exports linen and does some shipbuilding," he said.

"As far as I can gather, the only things exported to dollar countries are Irish Whisky and lottery tickets."

DEATHS

TB VILLA GETS TV SET

Television came to St. Joseph's TB Villa on Thursday. Funds for the receiver installed by an army expert came from a $1,000 campaign staged by the patients themselves, assisted by Jerry Gosley's "Smile Show" special performances.

GOOD SWIMMERS

Raccoons find much of their food along streams, marshes and lake shores.

Photographer of Mrs. Semenick Sought at Home by 'Hoodlums'

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The Vancouver Herald asked for police investigation last night into the visit to the home of one of their photographers of two strange men.

The visit was made to the home of John McGinnis, Herald photographer who shot an exclusive picture Thursday of Mrs. William Semenick visiting her husband after an attempt was made on Semenick's life.

McGinnis was not at home at the time, but his mother-in-law described the pair as "well-known hoodlum types." They said they would return later but failed to do so.

The Herald said "police are inclined to regard the incident in a serious light and all necessary precautions to protect the Herald photographer and members of his family have been affected."

Ottawa Memorial Will Honor Col. By

OTTAWA (CP) — Two fountains which formerly stood in Trafalgar Square, London, will be combined into one fountain here as a memorial to Col. John By, founder of Ottawa.

PAGE ADVERTISEMENT IN DIGEST: $26,500

PLEASANTVILLE, N.Y. (UP) — The American edition of the Readers Digest will carry advertisements for the first time in its 33-year history.

A spokesman for the magazine, which has a circulation of more than 10,000,000 world-wide, said advertisements will start appearing next April. Advertising space will be limited to 32 pages in each issue the first year.

Liquor, tobacco and medical-remedy ads will not be accepted, he said.

The Digest will charge $26,500 a page for black-and-white advertising, $28,500 for two-color ads, and $31,000 for four-color material.
